FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF ARRIVAL HERE

Alex Wilson of This City Being Complimented by Many Friends.

To-day Alexander Wilson, of the firm of A. & W. Wilson, of this city, is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his arrival in this city. Fifty years ago to-day he landed here, and during the time of his residence has earned the respect of all with whom he has come in contact. Mr. Wilson has watched Victoria grow up and he has taken a large part in her development. To such men as he belong the credit for many of the improvements, as well as for the moral tone which pervades the place.

During the day a great many people have called on Mr. Wilson and he has been the recipient of many congratulations and mementoes of the event. Among those who have taken the opportunity of complimenting him has been H. Dallas Helmcken, a representative of the oldest Victoria families, who presented Mr. Wilson, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Helmcken, with a beautiful bouquet.

HENEY CLOSES FOR PROSECUTION

REPLIES TO ATTORNEY FOR THE DEFENCE

Declares There is Ample Evidence to Prove Guilt of Calhoun.

(Times Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Cal., June 17.—Comparing himself to George Washington, Francis J. Heney declared to-day that the people of San Francisco would justify his political ambitions and vindicate him of charges which have been hurled at him by enemies, by electing him district attorney of San Francisco. Heney's declaration was made in the midst of his closing arguments in the trial of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, who is accused of bribery.

"George Washington was accused of being ambitious," declared Heney. "They asserted that he wanted to make himself king, but the people of the United States vindicated him by electing him to the presidency as the people of San Francisco will vindicate me by placing me in the office of district attorney."

Concluding his argument in defence of Patrick Calhoun at 10:45 this morning, A. A. Moore surrendered the floor to Francis J. Heney. A brief recess was declared by the court, after which, at 11:15 o'clock, Heney addressed the jury.

Moore followed the general line of rhetorical argument that yesterday held spellbound the largest audience that yet has packed the court room. Holding to ridicule the allegations that the United Railroads or the defendant had attempted in any way to retard justice, he boldly denounced the prosecution and deplored the so-called persecution of the defendant.

He asserted that the infamous practice of interviewing jurors by the defence and prosecution was a devilish invention of Wm. J. Burns, and that the United Railroads had a right, "if the miserable wretches," who worked for Burns offered to sell his documents, to purchase them. He scoffed at the idea of Calhoun being implicated in the dynamiting of "Big Jim" Gallagher's house in Oakland, and declared that Gallagher's life was dearer to Calhoun in the light of his testimony, than it was to any other man on earth with the exception of Gallagher himself.

He scored the prosecution as having side-tracked all issues to get at Calhoun and referred to the defendant as "the poor man who was dragged at the chariot wheels of a political combination that has been ruling and ruining San Francisco."

Moore wound up by declaring that Calhoun's name and honor were at stake, and that these are dearer to him than his life. His last words to the jury were:

"And now, gentlemen, I leave in your hands the honor of Patrick Calhoun, feeling secure that when you have completed your deliberations justice will have been done."

Possessing in no measure the eloquence and rhetorical ability of Moore, Heney wasted no time in getting to the points of his argument when he took the floor to begin the closing argument for the prosecution. After scoring Moore for the alleged abuse he had heaped upon the heads of the supporters of the prosecution, Heney said:

"Moore asked you to believe that Spreckels, Phelan, Burns, O'Gara, Heney and the members of the League of Justice are all criminals; that they have all committed crimes, and he says it is proved by the records. If the records prove that, what will you say about what they prove about Patrick Calhoun?"

"Isn't there enough in those records to sink Patrick Calhoun to the bottom-most pits of hell?"

"The evidence demonstrates that Patrick Calhoun is guilty, that every hair of his head is guilty."

"As Edmund Burke said in the trial of Warren Hastings, 'a criminal is trapped more often by the things he tries to cover up than by the evidence of the crime he leaves behind him.'"

Continuing, he said: "They defy us to bring in a man who saw the bribe money paid to Abo Furf. If we could bank on him telling the truth, we'd bring Tiresias Ford on this stand and he could tell for he was the sole witness to that payment of money. Of course they defy us. Why shouldn't they when they know as we do that Tiresias Ford is the only man who can testify that he saw the bribe paid?"

"This is not the first republic the world has ever known," said the prosecutor. "Other republics have failed, every one in history has failed, and this one will fail just as sure as its form of government is attacked by people in it and its laws destroyed by wealth, greed and corruption. It is the corruption inside a republic that destroys it, not the attack from the outside."

Here Heney made his remarks about George Washington and his own political ambitions. Continuing along that line, he said:

"I didn't want to make the sacrifice. I gained the ambition after I heard Helms' tale and got an insight into the terrible crimes that have been committed to keep this defendant out of the penitentiary. Crimes of jury fixing, bribery and stealing. And I'll fulfill that ambition if God permits me to live."

He stopped speaking at 12:30 and continued this afternoon. He gave no intimation of how long he will talk, but will probably keep up until to-morrow.

There was only one application in chambers before Mr. Justice Irving this morning, in re Fernie, deceased, C. J. prior obtaining an order for the sale of some real estate.

DAYTON HONORS THE WRIGHT BROTHERS

Review of Troops Feature of the Celebration in Ohio Town.

(Times Leased Wire.)

Dayton, Ohio, June 17.—With whistles blowing, fire crackers exploding, bands playing and troops parading, Dayton to-day celebrated the aeronautic achievements of the Wright brothers. Speeches paying high tribute to the wizards of the air were delivered this morning at Van Cleave park, and this afternoon a review of troops was the principal feature of the celebration. The Wrights rode to the park in automobiles and with characteristic embarrassment, heard their praises sung by admiring local officials.

JAPANESE WILL SUBMIT NEW DEMANDS

Hawaiian Sugar Planters Determined Not to Yield to Strikers.

(Times Leased Wire.)

Honolulu, July 17.—Hawaiian planters are willing that the Japanese government make a full investigation of the strike among the Japanese plantation laborers, according to reports from every section of the island. They will make no attempt to frustrate any movement the Tokyo government may make in response to the appeals of the strikers, which were voiced again to-day in messages to the Japanese capital.

The planters are unanimous in the opinion that an investigation will justify the stand they have taken, and will strengthen their cause in the other islands where it is believed trouble is imminent.

The leaders of the strike to-day are formulating a set of demands which they will withhold until it is learned whether or not the imperial government decides to act. It is reported that these demands are more stringent than those which were asked for at first. The leaders refused to discuss the reasons for this.

The planters of this and the other islands involved in the strike have agreed under no consideration to accede to the demands when they are presented. They are determined to crush the strikers completely.

The Japanese consulate in this city is preparing a report of the strike that probably will be forwarded to Ambassador Takahira at Washington to-night. The report is said to be favorable to the planters, and it is thought it will operate for a speedy settlement of the "international question" agitation spread by the strike leaders.

Laborers of 14 plantations on the island of Hawaii late yesterday presented an independent set of demands to their employers. They announced that they would return to work while the demands are being considered, but if they were not complied with a new strike will be declared.

WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP.

Veneable and Harden Will Meet at Bellingham in July.

Bellingham, Wash., June 17.—Virgil Veneable, of Seattle, and Milton Harden, of this city, were last night matched to meet on the mat in this city on July 2nd for the lightweight wrestling championship of the northwest. Harden and Veneable wrestled here about a month ago and stayed on the mat for two hours and twenty minutes without either securing a fall. The articles for the match on July 2nd were signed after the match last night between Harden and Rodney Renshaw, in which Renshaw was defeated in two straight falls.

Veneable has also signed to meet Tom Kelly, of this county, in a match at Sumas on June 26th, Veneable agreeing to throw Kelly twice in an hour.

FREE IMPORTATIONS FROM PHILIPPINES

Finance Committee Amendment Adopted by United States Senate.

Washington, D. C., June 16.—Defeating various amendments aimed against the free importation of tobacco and sugar from the Philippines, the senate yesterday adopted committee amendments which will permit the free importation of 300,000 pounds of sugar, 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco and 70,000,000 cigars annually from the islands.

The Fletcher amendment which provided that the present Philippine tariff be retained and that the free importation of sugar and tobacco be prevented, was defeated by a vote of 26 to 43. Senator Gore's amendment limiting the free importation of sugar from the Philippines to two years, was also lost. The vote on the Gore amendment was 27 to 43.

Dick's amendment omitting all reference to tobacco and cigars in the Philippine paragraph, was defeated 42 to 48. An amendment introduced by Stone, of Missouri, providing that all manufactures of zinc be put upon the free list, was defeated by a vote of 50 to 18.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

London, June 17.—The police are investigating the death of Alice Seymour, who was shot, it is said, while appearing in a trick shooting sketch with Raven Cody, advertised here as a son of Col. Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Accounts of the shooting differ. One report has it that the girl was shot while holding a candle on her head for her playing partner to shoot at. Another is that she was shot by the man in their lodgings.

Former Banker Must Appear Before Court of Appeals in October.

New York, June 17.—Charles W. Morse, convicted of bank wrecking, was released from prison yesterday afternoon under $125,000 bail.

He was given his liberty upon the promise that he would appear at the beginning of the October term of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which has his case under consideration. The banker's release on bail was the result of lengthy arguments completed by his counsel yesterday.

HOW TO CURE FRETTING OF INFANTS

Mrs. Emma E. Percival Gives Advice That is Very Valuable.

When young children and babies continually fret and cry you can be sure in nine cases out of ten there is pain caused either by wind or acidity of the stomach.

Writing on this subject from her home in Bedford, Mrs. Percival says: "As a nurse of many years' experience I can say that nothing I know of will give such splendid results as Nerviline in four drop doses in hot sweetened water. I once had a case with a baby that cried continually, suffered as if in convulsions—Nerviline relieved at once. I have also used Nerviline with grand effect for cramps, stomach gas, indigestion and stomach disorders. For general household use, to cure the many internal ills that constantly arise, I can recommend no preparation as honest, reliable and economical as Nerviline."

Nurses, physicians, laymen—thousands that use Nerviline every day, all say its pain-subduing, health-giving powers warrant it being kept in every home. Refuse any substitute for NERVILINE, which is sold in large 25c bottles by all dealers.

THE GOULD CASE.

Employee of Castle Gould Says He Saw Plaintiff Intoxicated on Two Occasions.

New York, June 17.—Tales of liquor drinking and intoxication again occupied the sessions of the Mrs. Howard Gould separate maintenance suit yesterday.

Harry Turner, an employee of Castle Gould since 1906, swore that he saw Mrs. Gould under the influence of liquor in the latter part of July or early in August, 1906; and again in the same condition November 6, 1906. On cross-examination he stated that these were the only two occasions on which he had ever seen Mrs. Gould when she appeared to be intoxicated.

Turner testified that he had never seen Mrs. Gould take a drink, but said that he overheard her tell Manager Malloy, of Gould Castle, that he was discharged and call him some names. On cross-examination, he admitted that Mrs. Gould had complained because she was not treated as she should be by her servants.

ETHEL BARRYMORE SILENT.

Actress Refuses to Be Interviewed—Rumor That She Will Desert Frohman Not Confirmed.

San Francisco, Cal., June 17.—Rumors that Ethel Barrymore intends to desert Frohman and appear next season under the management of the Shuberts' theatrical insurgents, are not confirmed for the simple reason that it is impossible to interview the star.

Since Miss Barrymore gave out her sensational interview, in which she said several things, which might be true, but were not exactly complimentary to the New York smart set, her lips have been sealed. Despite this condition of affairs, or because of it perhaps, the rumors have been persistent that the star plans for heavier roles and that she has promised to let the Shuberts give them to her.

"THE LADIES' STORE" 1010 GOVERNMENT ST.

LAD SHOTS MAN IN DEFENCE OF MOTHER

Is Held by Police Pending Outcome of Victim's Injuries.

San Francisco, Cal., June 17.—Because he shot a man who is alleged to have made a savage attack upon his mother, Georgia Connolly, 12 years old, is held at the detention home pending the outcome of the victim's injuries.

The lad claims that John Fennell, while intoxicated, struck Mrs. Connolly in the face. He stated that he seized a pistol and shot Fennell as he was leaving the home. Fennell lies at the city and county hospital, suffering from two bullet wounds. His condition is serious.

Mrs. Connolly is the proprietress of a small grocery store at Colma, the prize-fight village. On Sunday, according to the lad's story, Fennell entered the store intoxicated, in company with the boy's uncle, William Connolly. Fennell became abusive and struck Mrs. Connolly twice. The lad declared to the police that he was his mother's only protector, and would not see her abused.

Fennell, believing his injuries not to be serious, neglected to have them attended to. He went to the hospital on Tuesday, where it is stated that his arm must be amputated. He admitted striking Mrs. Connolly.

WINKS AT CORONER.

Indian Over Whose Body Inquest Was to Be Held, Creates Consternation.

Ukiah, Cal., June 17.—Opening his eyes, and then indulging in a prodigiously solemn wink, Richard Williams, an Indian who on Saturday shot his wife and then turned the gun on himself to avoid arrest, created consternation in a local undertaking parlor where the inquest over his body was to have been held.

Stretched on a bier, and accompanied by a band of wailing Indians, Williams' body was brought to Ukiah. Five hours later while the coroner was examining the body, the redskin opened his eyes, blinked and grinned. The coroner and the undertaker retreated in alarm.

Williams was taken to the county hospital, where he was treated for a severe wound in the neck. It is thought he will recover.

Stockton, Cal., June 17.—The charred body of Mrs. McDonald, an aged woman, was found yesterday in the ashes of her home here, which burned Tuesday night. Mrs. McDonald was a widow and lived alone. Her house was discovered in flames, but neighbors supposed the woman was not at home. Yesterday morning the remains of the woman and her dog were found in the ashes.

WILL ASK IMMEDIATE TRIAL.

Indictments Against F. Augustus and A. P. Heinz Presented in Court.

New York, June 17.—Declaring that he would demand an immediate trial of the defendants, District Attorney Wise yesterday presented in court the indictments of Arthur P. and A. Augustus Heinz, Sanford Robinson, Calvin O. Geer and Charles Warfield, who are charged with conspiracy in connection with the disappearance of the books of the United Copper Company. Informal pleas of not guilty were entered by the defendants, who were then released under $2,500 bail to appear next Monday.

WHAT THEY HAVE DONE FOR VICTORIA.

Finance Minister Tatlow told his Conservative friends last night that Victoria occupied a very large place in the heart of the government of which he is Finance Minister notwithstanding the fact that appearances hardly bare out such a contention. The McBride administration will spend close upon a hundred thousand dollars (if given time) in constructing a road from Goldstream to Mill Bay. If given further time, it will purchase the entire block in the neighborhood of the Parliament Buildings. Hence let no one say that the government is dissembling its love for the city which supports it by electing four Conservatives. At the same time it may be that there are some irreconcilable Brits, possibly a few observant Conservatives also, who will point out that the advantages of a new road to Mill Bay and the enlargement of the grounds surrounding the government buildings can hardly prove of very substantial advantage to the city of Victoria, and certainly will not offset the disadvantages brought about by obnoxious the capital of the institutions which properly belong to her, such, for example, as the headquarters of the educational institutions and the new courts of the province. One may consult the records of every other province of the Dominion from Prince Edward Island to Saskatchewan and fail to discover any corresponding condition of affairs. British Columbia has the only perambulating law courts within the bounds of the Empire; Victoria is the only capital against which discrimination is practiced in the vital matter of education. The reason for this state of affairs, we observe, has never been explained by any of the loyal Victoria Conservatives when they meet together to eulogize each other and their unapproachable, unconquerable leader, who is the first member for this city.

TWO INGLORIOUS VICTORIES.

The glorious victories won by the McBride government in the last provincial elections and by Mr. G. H. Bar-nard in the Dominion election of October 26th last were the principal themes discussed by the Conservatives of Victoria last night. These great triumphs were attributed chiefly to a perfect organization. A perfect organization may, according to the point of view, be interpreted in several ways. From the Tory standpoint it means a stuffed voters' list and absolute unscrupulousness in voting every dummy on that list. But even the advantages accruing from such perfection of organization would not have been sufficient in themselves to win the elections. The master stroke was delivered on the eve of polling in the provincial campaign by that great master of tactics, Napoleon J. Bowser, who, for the second time, announced an impending invasion of Asiaties. There was no more truth in that proclamation than there ever has been in anything of political character issuing from the mouth of the notoriously inveterate Attorney-General in the McBride government. But the "thing is to get in, and when you are in to stay in." The end to be gained justified the means, however disreputable, in gaining it. The government was in, and it stayed in. In the meantime it may be presumed, for charity's sake, that the weight of the Attorney-General's iniquity pressed heavily upon his soul. His health gave away. He is now somewhere in the Mediterranean trying—we trust not in vain—to build up a new conscience and improve his physical condition. We would suggest a visit to Rome as a possible palliative for his complaint.

The manner in which the Dominion election was won is fresh in the minds of Victorians. We observe that while the few followers of the only true political faith present at last night's meeting, felicitated each other upon that notable victory, no allusion was made to the chief elements in it, the forged telegram and other features no less condemnable. Ordinary decency, not to mention common political discretion, should have dictated passing such matters over in solemn silence. But if only victories gained by fair and honorable means and in the true interests of this city and this country were to be celebrated, there would be few occasions for the leaders and the rank and file of the Conservative party to indulge in jubilation.

WHEN POTENTATES MEET.

It seems that when the mighty ones of the earth, such as the Kaiser and the Czar, hold communion together on weighty matters of state, the ordinary business and commerce of the world must cease. A British steamer, whose commander may have known nothing about the conference of the crowned heads of Germany and Russia, ventured in the course of her voyage within the circle set apart exclusively for the use of these potentates, and was brought up by a round shot, or the modern equivalent thereof. Luckily only a common British sailor was injured. If the vessel had been sunk, serious international complications might have ensued, because public feeling in Great Britain and elsewhere is so tense that incidents which under ordinary conditions would be considered trifling might strike a spark which would produce a conflagration. As it is, the action of the Russian torpedo boat will probably be considered only a necessary measure of precaution. It will be followed by explanations and apologies, as in the case of the late Dogger Bank "accident." Yet the thought will occur to mere common people who are not privileged to wear crowns upon their heads that if these rulers are so fearful of their lives they ought to stick to the custom of the esteemed Czar, who seldom ventures forth from the refuge of a fortress. It may be that weighty matters of state depend upon the Czar and the Kaiser meeting together and exchanging salutations with each other (upon either cheek), but the popular impression is that state business in these latter days is chiefly discharged by persons selected and elected by popular vote for that purpose. Of course it is true that the Russian-Duma is merely a concession to foreign public opinion and that the Grand Dukes are the real rulers of the empire, and that consequently a consultation between the Czar and the Kaiser may be productive of important results. But even these things constitute no adequate reason for running the risk of involving Europe in war. If the Czar is so distrustful of his loyal subjects as to believe they are always looking for opportunities to assassinate him, he should not venture beyond the bounds where his authority is exclusive. His life is not of more value, from the point of view of this democratic age, than that of any common man. It is not worth preserving at the risk of a war which would cost hundreds of thousands of lives. Therefore it is and his royal brother must meet for the consideration of matters over which they delude themselves into believing they have supreme control, let them do it in a place where there need be no apprehension of assassins breaking through.

The editor of the Colonist evidently does not exercise a very strict supervision over his own columns. He argues in one part of his paper that there is no treaty with the Songhees which the Dominion government is bound to observe strictly in its dealings with the members of that tribe, while in another column we find the following quotation from the observations of Hon. Joseph Frutich, written in the year 1869: "It is certain that the tract of land known as the Songish Indian Reserve was formerly set apart by the competent authority of the Hudson's Bay Company's agent, acting on behalf of the Crown, for the perpetual use and benefit of the Indians of that tribe; and that this land is now held in trust by the Crown, acting under a solemn obligation, as guardian of the rights of the Indians in this respect."

Toronto Star:—Some days ago we ventured the opinion that some newspapers in this province were taking too seriously the story from Alberta about the lawless Mormons who attacked a man who had gone there to recover his wife. Such rows have occurred, we said, where no Mormon was concerned. We see by the Calgary paper that "Mormonism" had nothing to do with this row. The woman was not a Mormon nor were her people connected with that church. The wife rejected her husband, the husband tried to get possession of the child, and the neighbors turned out in a body, gave him some rough handling, and threatened all kinds of things if he ever came back to bother her further.

Captain Tatlow says the McBride government always has been, and is, anxious to do all in its power to facilitate a settlement of the "Songhees Reserve question." The Finance Minister evidently has not read the correspondence on this matter. It discloses one of two things: Either the provincial government has been determined to prevent a settlement or that in the matter, as in every other matter requiring the exercise of ordinary common sense, some little industry and knowledge of the constitution, it has been unable to rise to the occasion.

Ottawa Free Press: J. S. Briery and J. A. Macdonald were true to the best traditions of Canadian Liberalism in their protests against interference by the daughter States in the domestic affairs of Great Britain. The manner in which Mr. Macdonald forced the withdrawal of the "compulsory conscription resolution was a distinct triumph for common sense and true imperialism.

What Other People Think
"UP AGAINST IT."

To the Editor: May I call the attention of the public to a circumstance which occurred recently on the passage from Vancouver to Victoria on the Princess Charlotte? We left Vancouver at 10 a. m. and an elderly lady, who made one of the party, not feeling very well, wished for a cup of tea. One of her friends asked the stewardess if she would bring it. She applied to the head steward, who sent a waiter to the saloonman. This was the reply: "As it is half-past eleven she cannot have it until twelve o'clock; and then she must come to the dining saloon."

The point I want to make is this: If that old lady had requested a glass of liquor would she have had to wait till twelve o'clock, and then pay seventy-five cents for it? She did not want a lunch, in fact, could not have eaten it. It does not seem fair that a man can get the sort of refreshments he wants at any hour of the day and a woman cannot.

LADY TOURIST.

GERMANY'S POLICY.

(Toronto News.)

In one of his striking speeches some years ago the German Emperor said: "Without the consent of Germany's ruler nothing must happen in any part of the world." The Berlin naval programme is quite in keeping with this declaration.

A NATION'S LAWS.

(Cardinal Newman.)

A nation's laws are a nation's property, and have their life in the nation's sentiment, and where that living intelligence does not shine through them they become worthless and are put aside, whether formally or on an understanding.

A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESS.

(Montreal Star.)

Sir Robert Perks, an English Liberal, paid an indirect tribute to the press in the course of a speech before the Toronto Empire Club the other day. By way of explanation to his audience why outsiders got what he claimed was an erroneous impression of the purposes and principles of the Liberal party, he said that "the fact was that the Liberal party had no powerful exponent of its opinions in the British press. Nearly all the leading newspapers were in the hands of the Conservative party, and hence it was that the case for British Liberalism was not presented fairly in the extracts cabled from the British press."

Without discussing whether or not

Sir Robert gave a quite just estimate of the work of the largely independent press of Britain. It is perfectly clear that he is convinced that his party is at a most grievous disadvantage because of its weakness in newspapers. It has a record majority in the House of Commons; it has a splendid organization throughout the country; it has literally thousands of good speakers who frequently present its claims to the people; and it has a "front bench" in the Commons that has seldom been beaten for ability. Yet it finds itself in an altogether false position in the minds of people who are not closely in touch with its propaganda because it lacks support in the press.

This is the opinion of a publicist and a speaker. It is the verdict of the platform on the incalculable value of its great rival, the press. The spoken word may set an audience alight, but it cannot carry across the seas and the continents. The Liberals of Britain would be in far worse plight if the entire press did not fully report the utterances of its leaders. When Mr. Asquith makes a great speech, it appears verbatim in every British paper of note, and has at least as good an effect on behalf of his party as if the editors of these papers had given just so much of their space that day to Liberal writers. Denied access to the press entirely, no great party could live. Even when the editorial pages are steadily against it, it is heavily handicapped, and falls especially to reach distant audiences.

JOHN BURNS AS CABINET MINISTER

(Chicago Tribune.)

Queer things are happening to John Burns, and they illustrate the old doctrine that there's often nothing so conservative as a revolutionary, once he gets firmly into power. The former errand boy in a candle factory, dock "walloper," and labor leader who got into jail for spouting red flag oratory in Trafalgar Square, has become favorite minister of the King, and is generally in attendance on him when his majesty performs any public function in or near London.

It is especially noticeable that when the King inspects or opens any great public work where the expert knowledge of a practical man might be useful to him, Burns is not far from his sovereign's elbow, and it has also become noticeable recently, that they are the best of friends.

"Honest John," as he delighted to be called in his Socialist days, also is a familiar figure at all the royal courts and levees and London society is united in declaring that the president of the local government board in court dress is quite the handsomest member of the government. In fact, John Burns, ex-Socialist, ex-captain of a duchess to supper at a court ball is a sight which makes some of the older politicians smile and some of his old associates rage.

One night he left Buckingham Palace after a ball, buttoned his overcoat tightly over his court uniform, and walked down the Thames embankment to where the Salvation Army was handing out bread and soup to the derelicts of London. He took his place in the bread line and the next afternoon he exhibited his lump of bread in the House of Commons and declared that half the men who were being fed nightly had come to their present condition through drink and were unworthy of charity. This did not add to his popularity with the Socialists.

In the realm of administration John Burns also has given evidence of the great change which he has undergone, and there is not one among his old associates who has a good word for him. Even the more radical members of the official Liberal party declare he is a brake on the wheels of progress, and the Daily News, the organ of the progressive wing of the Liberals, has damned him as a reactionary.

When John Burns was placed at the head of the local government board it was thought he would undoubtedly approve and support the experiments in Socialism which were being made by a number of boards of guardians and other local authorities. Instead of that he announced at the start that he was there to see that the taxpayers' money was not wasted and he instituted a number of investigations which resulted in some of the guardians and councillors going to jail for helping themselves to public funds.

Then he disavowed all sorts of bills for experiments about which it could only be said that they were extravagant and he insisted on all the local authorities in England adopting a new system of bookkeeping by which he is able to see at a glance the state of their finances, just as a business man can tell how his affairs stand.

In the general meetings of the cabinet he has become recognized as one of the strongest conservative factors. Cabinet meetings are supposed to be secret, but cabinet ministers will talk especially when they are angry, and I have been informed on high authority that throughout the recent navy crisis Burns was one of the strongest opponents of the "little navy" policy. He stood out for eight Dreadnoughts at once, when other ministers who are called imperialists, were willing to accept the demand of Winston Churchill and Lloyd-George that the programme should be cut down to four.

Of course all this did not endear him to his old associates, but the worst was yet to come. In the eyes of the English radicals the unforgivable sin is to question the omnipotence of parliament and the beneficence of parliamentary action as a cure for every evil from which the body politic suffers. John Burns has been guilty of the unforgivable sin, and to-day he is damned by every radical in England.

At a meeting the other day, he referred to the report of the poor law commission, or, rather, the reports, for there was a majority and minority report. These documents agreed in only one thing, which was that the present system of caring for England's paupers should be abolished, lock, stock, and barrel. Burns declared that they were both right in that, and then he proceeded to offend the Socialists by declaring that the minority report was a farago of Socialistic nonsense and to horrify the radicals by declaring that there was nothing good in the recommendations of the majority that parliament need bother with at all.

"Let the officers of the local government board who are skilled in dealing with the poor, handle the matter," he said. "There is no need for parliament to waste time on it. We can reform the poor law much better and more quickly and efficiently by administrative order."

This is why John Burns is being denounced throughout England as a coward and those who denounce him do not forget to mention that after making his speech he entered his high powered automobile and hurried off to attend the King on a visit to Hampton Court.

In spite of all this railing of the extremists there is no more generally popular politician in England to-day than Burns.

EDUCATIVE VALUE OF GARDENING.

Canada first realized the educative value of gardening twenty years ago, observes Maud Going, who contributes an article entitled "Village Improvement" to the June Canadian Magazine.

At first the enterprise owed its life in great measure to the zeal of Dr. Alexander N. Mackay, Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia. He advocated nature study and garden work so ably and effectively that there were fifty-two school-gardens in his own province before 1904. In that year the Sir William Macdonald school gardens were established in all the eastern provinces, so that Canada can now boast of hundreds of gardens.

The first school gardens were mainly volunteer institutions due to the enthusiasm of the teacher more than to the initiative of the school trustees. But since 1904 there has been a grant coming from the Macdonald Rural Schools Fund, giving an addition of thirty dollars to the yearly salary of the teacher who will qualify for nature work and maintain a garden— and twenty dollars for labor, seeds, plants and tools. Prizes have been offered for the most successful gardens in the province, and in 1904 the first prize was awarded to Knowlton school.

Now it is hoped that the province will carry on the work which the municipalities of Sir William Macdonald has started and vote out of the public funds an annual grant to encourage the making of gardens around rural village schools. This has been already done by Ontario and by New Brunswick. In Ontario the department of education have issued a most practical and helpful circular, beautifully illustrated, dealing with the improvement of school grounds.

Green; vice-presidents, H. F. Bishop, E. A. Lewis and E. E. Lepson; treasurer, L. Tait; secretary, W. Price; executive committee, J. W. Bolden, H. Dallas Heischen, K. C. J. Brown, J. Dean, H. Maynard, J. L. Beckwith, R. Hayward, P. J. Riddell, G. Penketh, C. Baxter, C. M. Cookson, H. Fullerton, H. Maloney, A. McKeown and W. W. Perry.

—The Ladies' Aid of Emmanuel Baptist church are making preparations for a strawberry and ice cream festival to be held on Wednesday, June 23rd. This festival will be held at Mr. and Mrs. Russell Westcott's, at the Gorge. No better place could have been selected. There are spacious grounds adjoining the water, making it very convenient for those who travel by boat or canoe. This event will doubtless be looked forward to by many, as it is a well-known fact that what the ladies of Emmanuel church plan to do, they do it. The proceeds will help to pay off the debt on the church.

THE STORY OF CANADA'S MATCHLESS GROWTH.

The series of articles by Premiers and Lieutenant-Governors of all the different provinces, which is now running in Colliers is no less than a story of Canada's matchless growth in the past, and a prophecy as to its future. The article in the June 19th issue is "New Brunswick in 1950," by Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie.

QUIET WEDDING AT

CHURCH OF OUR LORD

Mr. J. F. Simmons of Vernon and Miss Erskine joined in Marriage.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Church of Our Lord at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Reid officiating, assisted by Rev. T. W. Gladstone. The contracting parties were Miss Katherine Olive Erskine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erskine, 766 King's road, and Mr. John Frederick Simmons, of Kettleton, Vernon, B. C.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a very becoming tailored suit of champagne cloth, with blouse of ecru net, large tub turban of white straw trimmed with pink, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Eunice Erskine, in a very pretty directoire gown of cedar green messaline silk with net yoke and sleeves and Russian trimming. With this she wore a hat of green straw with pink roses and carried a bouquet of carnations.

Mr. Noel Chambers, of Vernon, supported the groom, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered by the church organist.

Miss Donaldson and Mr. A. B. Erskine, of Vancouver, were the only out-of-town guests who were present at the ceremony, which was witnessed by the immediate relatives only. Miss Donaldson wore a very dainty gown of blue silk with white picture hat.

A great many handsome and costly presents were received by the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a very pretty gold bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons left on the Princess Charlotte en route for Banff, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return they will make their home at Kettleton, Vernon, B. C.

IMPROVED POSTAL

SERVICE IN NORTH

Contracts Let for Mail Carrying—New Offices Opened.

A contract has been made by the post office department, for a fortnightly mail service to Massett from Prince Rupert, with the Union Steamship Company, and a post office has been opened at Massett, with Rev. Colborn as postmaster.

A contract has also been made with the Canadian Pacific Railway Steamship Company to run regularly twice a month a steamer to Collinson bay, Ikeda bay, Jedway, Locke harbor, Selwyn inlet, Queen Charlotte City and Skidegate.

Instructions have been issued by the post office department to open offices at Jedway, A. Sivert, postmaster; Queen Charlotte, D. G. Beattie, postmaster; Lockport, W. E. Marshall, postmaster. The arrangements are provisional, but no doubt they will be made permanent upon the report of the post office inspector; while other necessary post offices, which can be served by the steamer, will be opened at an early date.

TRADES AND LABOR

COUNCIL MEETING

Carpenters' Organization Discussed—Labor Hall and Civic Contracts Up.

Last evening the Victoria Trades and Labor council met, President J. C. Waters in the chair. W. F. Stevens presented credentials as a delegate of the Typographical union and H. Jameson as representative of the printing pressmen.

A report from the executive was presented, relative to the calling of a mass meeting of carpenters at the request of the amalgamated society. They had been successful in getting quite a few to join the union. The meeting had been largely attended by labor men in general, who expressed their hearty endorsement of the principles enunciated by the different speakers. As the carpenters in the city are very numerous at present, many favored starting a branch of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, believing that there was room enough for both unions, and if all carpenters in the city were in the one union it would be too unwieldy. A Vancouver had a branch of both the amalgamated society and the Brotherhood of Carpenters, and everything worked very harmoniously.

Organizer Dowler, of the Carpenters' union of Vancouver and the mainland district was asked to address the council. He stated that he was out on an organizing tour on behalf of the Brotherhood of Carpenters but he was willing and anxious to organize carpenters under all conditions and circumstances, and hoped to accomplish some good before leaving the city. But nothing could be accomplished without the aid and assistance of all labor men, which he was glad to say had been promised.

The Amalgamated Carpenters Society sent a note to the council saying their union had no objection to the formation of a branch of the Brotherhood of Carpenters in the city. The action of the union was highly commended.

The council finally decided to submit the question to the Amalgamated Carpenters' Society before deciding to start a branch of the Brotherhood of Carpenters. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Dowler for his able and interesting address.

The labor temple building committee reported in favor of purchasing an option on a certain lot very centrally located with the determination to finally purchase the same. They also recommended that an association of labor unionists be formed, incorporated and capitalized at $50,000. This would allow 5,000 shares at $5 per share. A special meeting will be held to take further steps in the matter.

The special committee to which was referred the question of contract vs. day labor on civic work reported adversely to the "contract system" and recommended that the mayor be requested to call a public meeting to fully discuss the merits of the two systems before committing the people to a contracting system that years ago was tried and proved more than unsatisfactory. A letter from the city clerk, W. J. Dowler, stated that only a very small portion of civic work would be done by contract. This statement did not seem to impress the members very favorably, and the general opinion was expressed that it was only the thin side of the wedge that would ultimately be driven home and the people receive a poor quality of work for their money. The council after some further discussion, decided to call a public meeting in labor hall, Wednesday, June 23rd, to which the mayor and aldermen will be invited, and asked to show cause and justify their actions if they can do so.

Many labor men and citizens had promised to speak in favor of day labor on civic work. The labor temple committee's report was then considered in detail and adopted. The committee was voted sufficient cash to obtain the option on the lot. A circular letter was ordered sent to all the unions describing the scheme in detail, and a committee appointed to visit the various unions and ascertain how many shares of stock they would take.

TROUT AND SALMON AT COWICHAN FLATS

Report Received That Fish Are Plentiful at Mouth of Cowichan.

There are plenty of trout and spring salmon at the flats and at the mouth of the Cowichan river. That is the news received from W. C. Ferneynough, of the Koksilah hotel. Sportsmen have been looking for the time when the fishing at that point should be more encouraging than it has been hitherto this spring. While there have been some catches made at the mouth of the river, there have been many disappointments. The news that now is the time to fish there will be received with gratification by local sportsmen, who will doubtless try their luck there within the next few days.

There have been some good catches made in the upper waters of the Cowichan as well as in the lake. The difficulty with that part of the country is that it is inaccessible to most people. It takes too long to make the round trip in one day, and there are so few people who can afford the time to go out and stay over night. When the new railway is built and passenger trains are running to the lake, then it will be possible to go out and catch a dozen trout, returning the same evening.

The double daily train service on the E. & N. is much appreciated by anglers and others who like to go to the country for a day's sport. The afternoon train service will be a great convenience to many who hitherto found it impossible to make the journey on Wednesday, Saturday or Sunday, and it will be particularly attractive to tourists who have only a limited time at their disposal at this point.

REED BROOKS RODE WINNERS

JOCKEY MADE GOOD SHOWING YESTERDAY

Track at the Willows. Was a Little Slow—Record for the Day.

Reed Brooks came up several rungs in the ladder of fame yesterday when he rode four winners at the Willows track and stamped himself as one of the most capable jockeys of the continent. Brooks had five mounts for the day and won on Tube Rose, Succeed and Sink Spring in succession, and was not mounted in the fourth; was beaten on Prestige in fifth, and beat a field of eight in the mile on Santee, which he landed home at 3 to 1. The Kelly brothers were responsible for the other two races, winning one each.

The attendance yesterday was again in the thousands class, and the popularity of the races is evidenced by the continued support accorded by local residents, in addition to the Seattle contingent which is just now beginning to make itself apparent at the track.

The extending of the betting ring will be completed for Derby day, and a couple of additions to the layers of odds will take the blocks. One change took place yesterday in the ring, Smith getting down for a rest after three days of adverse conditions.

The track was slow yesterday, and the times were all away behind. Tube Rose in the first race picked up the position, coming into the straight and beat Otranto and Maternus for the front position.

Zick Abrams, 50-20-10, surprised the field at five furlongs by taking second money from the favorite, My Choice, which pulled up lame in third. Succeed, a long price horse, was ahead at the finish and was piloted round by Brooks.

Sink Spring, after his promising run Friday, was backed into second place in the betting to win yesterday, and justified the selection of those who liked him better at the distance than May Sutton and High Gun. High Gun in the last few moments was backed down from 4 to 1 to 5 to 2, but made no show in the race, after getting away last. The order was: Sink Spring, Angle Face, that has been waiting to do something for two weeks and hasn't quite done it yet, second, and May Sutton third.

Zelina, from 4 to 1, was backed down to 9 to 2, but did not justify the selection. Belle of Iroquois only carried a moderate sum at 3 to 1, and won all the way. Laura Clay and Escalante got the positions.

Aftermath was the one short one in a long odds field, and was expected to win. Blue Heron, however, took away the lead from a good start and held it by half a length. The Minister closed into third place well, and was running in good form, but the winner stood a drive well and was landed over the distance nicely.

The downfall of the favorite in the last race sent many soreheads home unhappy. Santee has been looking for a win at a price, and yesterday got in an 8 to 1 price for her backers, which landed the stable a fair sized purse, in addition to first money. Brooks held the horse well in third position till coming round the far turn. There he raced Merrill, the favorite, and Miss Mazzoni, winner of third money, and beat both. Santee was easily the best horse.

Since the settlement of the racing community in their permanent quarters at the track they have formed law and protection orders, and have now instituted a fire brigade service. The local brigade has advanced a chemical engine, 600 feet of water hose and 250 feet of chemical hose. Fire Chief Davis yesterday morning assembled the prompt brigade at the track and gave the members the first lessons of "How to fight fires and win." The plan is new and the gathering at the course, like its competency trials are held every morning.

The various races yesterday finished with the horses in the following order in each:

TROUT HATCHERY IN BRITISH ISLANDS

There is Always Brisk Demand for Fish for the Lakes and Markets.

In a clearing of the wood a very clear stream of water gushes out and runs down the valley. The soil is peat and gravel, and there are pockets of clay here and there which are useful for making dams and embankments. The pool in which the spring bubbles is enclosed in a thatched shed which is always kept dark. For the slimp, green, converted growth called frog-spittle, which soon cloaks up channels and screens, will only grow in sunshine, and the head of the stream must be kept clear of it.

All round this shady place the O. Aftermath, W. Kelly, 3-2, 1, Little Minister, McEwen, 10, 15, Lord Roslington, D. Riley, 20, 50, La Taranta, I. Powell, 2, 4, Sarachnesca, W. a pin's head—and in about three weeks each tiny white globule has a black eye. This is the fish in embryo.

In another three weeks or so the tiny fish hatches out, and for a month more it carries about with it in the water through which it wriggles the yolk of the egg from which it came. It looks like a black and very active thread, with a black globule attached to it, and the globule is much bigger than the thread. During this period of alevin life all the nourishment is supplied by the yolk, just as it is in the case of a chicken; only a chicken keeps within its shell until the yolk is absorbed, and the fish is ready to face life a stage earlier.

The fry ponds, in which the little fish, having now started fairly on their career, are kept and fed, are sealed with wire frames, upon which are laid shades of dried spear-grass. The water runs gently through them; they must be kept very clean, or the fry will suffer from a fungoid growth, which is called by the terrible name of saprolegnia ferax; the water must be well aerated, or they cannot breathe; there must be no over-crowding, or they will suffer from gill fever, which, if it once starts, will run through a pond in no time and create fearful mortality. They must be fed little and often—in fact, every two hours.

The feedings is done in this way: Liver and wax mussels are chopped very fine and put into a small inverted cone of perforated zinc on the end of a stick. This simple apparatus is shaken gently to and fro under the water, the fine fragments of food float through the mesh, and the busy little fish swarm about it and go away again to grow almost visibly.

Some grow faster than others, and those who reach the length of an inch work and havoc among their smaller brothers. So they have to be carefully separated from time to time. When they reach two inches this youthful cannibalistic habit drops from them, and they behave with more self-control.

To take them up from the ponds a bent glass tube is used with an india-rubber tube at the end of it. The water is sucked in and the fry with it, or the eggs that you may wish, to examine. Like all the apparatus of a fish hatchery, it is simple and primitive.

With so many dangers attacking their entrance into life and their early experience of it, it is a triumph of care and watchfulness to bring twenty per cent. of the fish to yearling size. They are so prolific that it is easy to imagine how enormous is the mortality where hatching and growth are an affair of unaided nature. Incessant and minute pains are the chief desiderata in trout breeding. It is a matter of daily, almost hourly, attention. When the chain of ponds and the necessary simple buildings and apparatus have been constructed there is little expense attached to the industry, and the labor required is small.

When the fish come to yearling size the returns begin. They can be sold for from 10 to 15 per thousand, according to size. Two-year-old fish cost from 140 to 160 a thousand. They are bought to stock lakes and rivers, and there is always a demand in the fish markets, and especially from the big hotels, which are now making a feature of that delectable dish, truite au bleu.

The fish are put into round tin cans and driven off to the railway. As long as they are travelling—and if they are not overcrowded—all is well. The shaking of the cart and the train keeps the water aerated. But they must not be allowed to stand still for more than five minutes or the fish will drown. So it is of no use to send the fish off like other merchandise. They must always be accompanied.

The fish that are to be sold are taken out of their ponds a week beforehand and put into another pond by themselves, and there starved until they make the journey. Otherwise they would foul the cans. In all these matters unceasing care is the chief thing.

The three kinds of trout raised are the brown trout, the Loch Leven trout, and the rainbow trout. The last is an importation fairly recent, from America. It has curious habits; it grows a little faster than other trout and hatches out something like three months later. It is of doubtful value for stocking, for after two or three years it goes to the bottom of a lake or river and in some mysterious ways disappears altogether. There is a lake in Bosnia which was heavily stocked a few years ago with rainbow trout, and now there is not one to be seen.

The value of the rainbow trout for market purposes would be great if the law permitted it to be sold at the right time. But the law in this respect, if in no other, is "a hassle." Other trout hatch out at Christmas, and the close time extends from November to February. During this time the rainbow trout is in good condition, but cannot be sold. A month or two later, when it ought to be enjoying a close time of its own, there is nothing to prevent its being sold.

SEND VAIO AND BEASLEY EAST

NATIONAL ATHLETIC MEETING NEXT MONTH

Victoria Runners Should Be in Canadian Championships.

What is Victoria going to do about a representative B. C. track team for the field meet of the Canadian athletic championships to be run in Winnipeg on July 16th and 17th.

Vancouver has taken the matter up and if their plans mature will send McConnell, sprinter; J. H. and D. Gillis, weights; Elkins, one-mile; Shearer, half-mile; Chandler, 15 miles.

The Vancouver committee also include Vaio and Beasley, the fast Victoria Y. M. C. A. runners, as representatives of B. C. amateur athletics, for sprints and junior events.

The Victoria Y. M. C. A. has taken the matter up through its physical director, and is anxious to see what can be done towards giving the fast Victoria boys the chance to bring back to the Capital City some of the Canadian championships.

Some time ago the officers of the C. A. A. U. signified their intention of providing the expenses of a B. C. team, and if this is adhered to the team as outlined will probably go.

There is, however, no certainty of the eastern money coming through and the local men interested think Vaio and Beasley should be supported locally and without outside assistance.

It will mean a whole lot to the city and province generally to have the pick of western athletes entered in the national championships, when star athletes from all parts of the Dominion will meet in conjunction. Besides bringing west and east together on the athletic field, it helps to advertise Victoria, and it is confidently expected that when the local committee makes the appeal to the general public the small amount needed will be readily subscribed.

BASEBALL MAY SUSPEND PLAYERS.

Santa Cruz, Cal., June 17.—President Herman, of the California State Baseball League, before leaving for San Francisco yesterday stated that if the rowdism that has marked the league contests during the past month is continued, the officials will have no alternative but to suspend the guilty players. Herman said that the officials were determined to put a stop to the umpire-baiting.

LADYSMITH AND NANAIMO TO MEET

BIG SOCCER BATTLE FOR CANTEEN GROUND

Final of Hard Season to Be Played Here Saturday.

After one of the longest and hardest seasons on the island in recent years, the championship is at last to be played. The competing teams are Ladysmith and Nanaimo, and the game will be played Saturday afternoon at the Canteen grounds, Esquimalt.

Nanaimo and Ladysmith have met twice already outside the regular schedule and have so far been unable to decide which is the better team. At the end of the championship series the teams stood level again and a deciding match had to be called.

This was arranged at the league meeting in the Driad hotel Saturday June 12th last, and as the constitution calls for the deciding game, if any, to be played on a neutral ground of a club affiliated with the league, and as Ladysmith is no longer affiliated the game went to the only remaining league ground, that of the Esquimalt team at the Canteen grounds.

The rivalry between the contesting eleven has all the season been intense and Saturday's game will be played at boiling point from the start to the end. About the middle of the season when things looked good to Nanaimo several of their players for various reasons left Nanaimo temporarily, and the team suffered in its contests. Later when Ladysmith began to make it felt the championship was going to that town, Nanaimo got together again and put a team in the field that upheld the honor of the coal town and also the best traditions of Island football.

Ladysmith was nowise behind in perfecting her soccer organization, and turned out a couple of surprises when she met Nanaimo in the championship series. Both teams are working as hard as winning teams can and both will come here Saturday to put up the best game they can and with the full determination to win the 1909-10 championship of the island.

Both Nanaimo and Ladysmith are talking of going to Calgary after the People's Shield this year, and if one team only goes it will be the winner of the game at the Canteen grounds Saturday next.

CRICKET.

FAMOUS ENGLISH CAPTAIN.

In a sketch of A. C. MacLaren, England's famous cricket captain, the London Mail says: "Of Mr. MacLaren's doings with the bat a volume might be written, and his 424 for Lancashire vs. Somersetshire at Taunton in 1886 still stands as the highest individual score on record in first-class cricket. Perhaps, however, the best thing he ever did was his 140 at Nottingham for England against Australia in 1905. On that occasion the selection of Mr. MacLaren had been very adversely criticized, and that was the Old Harrovian's answer to his critics."

His first appearance in county cricket too, is well worthy of note, for at the tender age of eighteen he scored 108 for Lancashire against Sussex at Brighton, a precocious Harrovian indeed.

It is not, however, with his prowess with the bat that we are chiefly concerned at present, though I fully expect to see him make some useful scores in the test matches. It is his captaincy that concerns the cricket-loving public most. Mr. MacLaren's special talent lies not only in thoroughly knowing and understanding his own men and making them trust him implicitly, but also in his thorough knowledge of the styles and tactics of those opposed to him. He is, perhaps, the greatest "shot-blocker" who has ever captained a side—that is to say, he knows by heart the favorite strokes of all his opponents, and can place his field to thwart those strokes better than any other captain England has ever possessed. It is almost impossible to score when "Archie Mac" has set his field. One man has beaten him, however, and the English captain will confess as much if questioned: that man is the great Victor Trumper. When this brilliant Australian batsman is at his best it is impossible to place the field to stop him scoring, for he has that faculty, which Rainsford alone shared with him, of treating any ball just how he pleased and throwing orthodoxy to the winds.

Writing on the subject of captaincy, Mr. MacLaren said: "Above all the captain must be Boss absolute, and, if he is to lead his men with any success, must not be influenced in the very slightest degree by public opinion or by the crowd." Knowing the writer's own conduct as captain, one might almost imagine he was looking into a kind of mental looking-glass when he wrote those words, for no man has ever lived more nearly to them. When he steps into the field he is without doubt "Boss absolute," though no man has ever been more ready to ask for and weigh well the opinions of those on whom he looks as trustworthy lieutenants, first and foremost among whom he ranks that great wicket-keeper, Lily, of Warwickshire. Albert Knight, in his cricket classic, summed up the English captain very succinctly when he spoke of him as "a masterful cricketer." Masterful but not dogmatic; that just sums up the man.

The crowd worship "Archie Mac." They love his magnificent confidence and coolness, his little mannerisms when fielding in the slips, and his tremendous personality when batting. He is only second to Mr. Jackson, in the coolness of his dealings with the very best bowling in the most trying circumstances, and likewise in his method of making a difficult wicket adapt itself to his methods rather than altering his style to suit the wicket. When other batsmen are floundering in perplexity, endeavoring at the best to keep up their wickets, one sees Mr. MacLaren scoring with ease and confidence at the other end, as though he were playing on the truest pitch. Yet, though he appreciates the admiration of the crowd, no one has been less influenced by it than Mr. MacLaren. He has his scheme of campaign, and no barracking can make him alter it. To quote again from Mr. MacLaren's article on captaincy: "A captain must command the respect of his men, and know all about each man on his side, not only from a cricketing point of view, but also he must know how to treat each man individually. In fact, he must get on the right side of his men." A difficult task this, but one which the writer fulfilled to the letter, for no English captain has ever been so thoroughly popular with his men, whether on the field or off, and this is, after all, the highest praise.

CYCLED 60 MILES FOR WIFE.

A wedding was solemnized at the Wesleyan church at Colchester, England, recently, under unusual circumstances. The necessary certificate from the registrar not having arrived, the anxious bridegroom, F. E. Moore, accompanied by the brother of the bride, T. E. Wright, started off at 3.30 a. m. one Sunday to cycle to Clacton, where they awaited the sorting of the morning mail. The expected letter was not, however, in the mail, and the pair then cycled to Dovercourt, the residence of the registrar. He kindly went to the registration office at Harwich with them and handed them the all essential document.

The cyclists then rode back to Colchester, having covered in all 60 miles. The wedding had been fixed for 8 a. m., but it was only solemnized at 2.30 p. m.—London Standard.

SPIRIT II. WILL MEET THE ALEXANDRA

Seattle Built Yacht Again Defeats the Rival at Everett.

(Times Leased Wire.)

Everett, Wash., June 17.—The second trial race between the Rival, of Everett, and the Spirit II, of Seattle, was much more of a success than Tuesday's drifting match. The Spirit was again winner by about 13 minutes, but she was pushed by the Everett boat in a much more consistent manner yesterday than on Tuesday. The breeze which the Rival's supporters had been demanding was in evidence yesterday, but even under the more advantageous conditions, the Seattle boat proved herself to be much the classier yacht, and gave one of the prettiest exhibitions of sailing ever seen on Port Gardner waters. The Rival, however, showed that she is a good strong-breasted boat, for on the last leg of the course when the yachts had rounded the stake boat to the west of Hat Island, the Spirit's time was 39 minutes and 25 seconds, while the Everett yacht came home in 53.10. The breeze was much fresher on the last leg than earlier in the race.

As a result of yesterday's race, the Spirit II. was selected as the American representative to sail against the Canadian boat Alexandra. Capt. Goldfinch and the crew of the Everett yacht today expressed the opinion that the Spirit would defeat the Alexandra.

WATCHING THE WHEAT !

THE ninth crop bulletin, issued by the C. P. R. on the 9th instant, is the most optimistic of any thus far to hand. It states that "all crops have been sown, with the exception of a few coarse grains. At Strassburg in Last Mountain section, wheat is up 12 inches; at Burnside, Man., it is from 10 to 12 inches above ground; at Otterburne, on the Emerson branch, it is over one foot high; at Emerson it is up from 7 to 10 inches; on the Lenore branch from 8 to 10 inches; Wetaskiwin, 4 to 7 inches; Lacombi branch, 7 inches, and Crow's Nest branch 8 inches." Everything looks unusually good on the prairies.

Showing location of EMPRESS SUBDIVISION, one-half mile from City Hall.

GOOD TIMES on the prairies mean good times in Victoria. This city is now going ahead as it never did before. Every week great quantities of new sewers, water pipes and paving material are being laid, thereby increasing in value the property which they front. In North Victoria lots which we are handling in the Empress and Work Estate Subdivisions are splendid value at from $350 to $650. By purchasing now on easy terms you can put yourself in a position to secure a handsome profit in a few months' time. The demand for property by local buyers which has been so marked recently will shortly be swollen by newcomers from the prairies.

TWENTY-EIGHT DAYS IN MONTHS

MOSES COTSWORTH
PROPOSES SCHEME

Disabilities of Present System
Pointed Out and Remedy Proposed.

At the last meeting of the Royal Society held in Ottawa a very interesting paper was read by Moses Cotsworth, at present a resident of this city, the subject being "The Need of a Rational Almanac." On the face of it the subject would appear to be a very dry, statistical one, but as handled by Mr. Cotsworth, it is intensely interesting. He shows not only the need of a change in the months, but gives a history of the growth of the present system, showing the haphazard way in which some of the present irregularities crept in.

Mr. Cotsworth's scheme is to have a year of thirteen months, each of which would have twenty-eight days. This would give a year of 364 days. The odd day would be Christmas Day, or New Year's Day, and would have no other name, so that there would be no interference with the regular order of things. The same thing would happen to the extra day in leap year, the day being called "Leap Day," and not Tuesday or Thursday, as the case may be.

By following out the plan as outlined by Mr. Cotsworth, the same day of the week would fall on the same days of every month. If Monday was the first of January it would also be the first of February and of every other month, thus doing away with a great deal of confusion. The people who would benefit most, however, would be business men who have a good many calculations to make. The ease in making these calculations would be very much increased by the removal of the present disabilities.

Mr. Cotsworth in sketching the history of the present anomalies shows how July was named after Julius Caesar, and when Augustus succeeded he had the following month changed from Sextilis to August. At that time this month had only thirty days, but in order to satisfy the pride of this emperor, one day was taken from February and given to August to make it equal to July. In order to show that Julius Caesar's plan was not a superior one, Augustus also shifted some of the other months, taking one day from September and November and giving them to October and December. This pride and arrogance of Caesar's has been the means of inflicting the irregular months upon the European races for 1,900 years.

Mr. Cotsworth is well fitted to initiate such a reform as the one suggested by him. He has discussed the matter with people in all parts of the English-speaking world, and has the support of everyone with whom he has taken the matter up. At the meeting of the Royal Society he was introduced by Sir Sanford Fleming, who spoke very highly of the plan. He advises that there should be a convention of delegates from all civilized countries, who should decide upon a plan somewhat along the line of the one suggested, and that a date should be set by them when the government of each country would bring it into force.

The writer of the paper is an actuary by profession, and his work in that line has shown him the inconvenience under which commercial men and corporations suffer. He is the author of a number of works, including "Cotsworth's Ready Calculator," the most complete book of its kind ever published. At present he is in the employ of the provincial government in connection with the scheme of civil service reform which they are initiating.

LETHBRIDGE VIADUCT NEARING COMPLETION

Greatest Bridge on the Continent
Will Be Ready in August.

A dispatch to the Winnipeg Free Press announces that after two years and a half of strenuous work on the part of a small army of men the last of the steel towers on the mammoth bridge of the Lethbridge-Macleod cut-off on the C. P. R. will be completed this week. The opening of the bridge which will take place as soon as the deck is on, will be one of the most important events which has taken place in the western history of the C. P. R. The entire work should be completed early in August.

The mighty structure was erected at a cost of $1,500,000, and is a triumph of engineering skill. Obstacles which have seemed almost insuperable have been overcome, and the achievement of this important project by the C.P.R. will be a unique and splendid advertisement both for the company and for western Canada. For years owing to the deep ravine in the bed of the Old Man river the C. P. R. has been obliged to make a cut-off of five or six miles. When it is considered that all freight and passenger trains will be saved this distance in mileage it will be seen what an immense saving in time and expense will be brought about. Lethbridge being a mining centre, the freight traffic from that point has been exceedingly large. On the old line there are some twenty-five to thirty trestles, and at times there have been costly delays when any of these burned out.

The announcement that this huge structure is almost completed comes with especial significance just now, owing to the announcement made yesterday by Wm. Whyte, second vice-president of the C. P. R. He stated

ONE ON THE DOCTORS.

Madame J. Rioux, St. Moise, Que., says: "Fruit-a-tives cured me of severe Liver Disease. Neither doctors nor any other remedy did me any good, but Fruit-a-tives promptly cured."

"Fruit-a-tives" always cure Liver Trouble, Biliousness and Constipation because they act directly on the liver. They stimulate the secretion of bile, which decreases the quantity of blood in the liver and thus relieves the congestion or biliousness. With plenty of bile to move the bowels, there is an end to the Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a disordered liver.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—prepared by a newly discovered process, and combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics. They are, without doubt, the most popular remedy in Canada to-day.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. If you can't get "Fruit-a-tives" in your neighborhood, these wonderful tablets will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by addressing Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

that the two spiral tunnels, near the Kicking Horse river, east of Field, would be completed toward the end of July, and that the double tracking between Winnipeg and Fort William would also be completed about the same time.

The next two months will, therefore, see the culmination of a series of improvements which have cost many millions, and which will be of overwhelming advantage to the main systems of the C. P. R. in the west. The grade, which will be lowered to 2.2 per cent by the tunnels now being completed in the Rockies, will not materially affect the time of passenger or freight trains, but will mean an immense saving in fuel, and relieve the heavy strain on rolling stock which has been very expensive in the form of repairs.

In short compass, the following are some facts about the great bridge: The greatest steel structure in the world, commonly known as the eighth wonder of the world.

Height at highest point 512 feet.

Length one mile and 47 feet.

Erected on 67 steel towers, three of which are founded on the rock at the bottom of the Old Man river.

Twenty-four million pounds of steel used in construction.

Contract was let at the beginning of 1907 to the Canadian Bridge Company.

NEW TYPE OF SHIPS IN FOREIGN NAVIES

Are Superior to the Dreadnoughts, Naval Critics Say.

In a recent speech at Glasgow the prime minister warned his hearers that the world was on the eve of new developments in naval construction which might vitally affect many of the conditions governing naval policy. In other words, there was a danger that the British Dreadnoughts would be outdone. He used this argument, strange though it may seem, not as a ground for building better ships at once, but as an excuse for delay, writes H. W. Wilson in the London Daily Mail.

Yet, as I shall show, there is every reason to believe that the Super-Dreadnought, as we may call the new type of ship, has already made its appearance in foreign navies, and that the latest battleships designed for foreign powers are so much more powerful than the latest examples of the British Dreadnought type as to throw them into the shade. Thus we are not only in danger of being outbuilt in number of new ships; we are also running the risk of finding that our new ships are, vessel for vessel, inferior to the foreign battleships, and that our German ships are equal to five British.

We are adding qualitative weakness to quantitative weakness. The original British Dreadnought differed from all previous battleships in these respects: 1, that she was larger than any of them; 2, that she carried ten of the heaviest guns mounted afloat; whereas no previous battleship had carried more than four of the heaviest guns; 3, that she was fitted with turbine engines, which gave her a much higher speed than other battleships; 4, that she carried her guns higher and so could fight them better in any weather; 5, that all her guns for fighting enemies of the battleship class were of one calibre or bore, and that the largest calibre, whereas previously battleships had carried guns of two or three calibres.

Four at least of these points represented a marked advantage as against any older ship and any of her contemporaries; the value of the fifth point—the armament composed only of heavy weapons—has been questioned, and it is on this that most controversy has arisen, as here foreign powers have not imitated us.

From the disposition of the Dreadnought's guns, she can fire eight 12-in. guns, with a total broadside of 6,800 lbs. on either side of the ship. Besides these, she has only a number of 12-pounder guns, which have but a short range and are useless against an armored opponent.

Equipment of the Dreadnoughts.

In all the later Dreadnoughts built for the British navy down to the St. Vincent the same general arrangement of heavy armament and the same weight of metal have been retained. The one improvement of any great importance introduced has been the substitution of twenty 4-in. or 25-pounder guns for the Dreadnought's twenty-seven 12-pounders. The new 12-in. guns class are also longer and heavier than the 12-in. guns of the Dreadnought. In speed, armor, and height above the water there has been no material advance. Thus the St. Vincent, laid down in 1908, were to all intents and purposes the same as the Dreadnought designed in 1904.

In the Neptune, begun this year, and in the four battleships which figure in the naval programme for 1909, the armament of heavy guns will be the same as that of the Dreadnought, though the individual weapons will be a little more powerful. The only important change will be that, according to report, these ships will be able to fire ten instead of eight 12-in. guns on either broadside, and that they will mount, probably, twenty 4.7-in. guns firing a 40-lb. shell instead of the Dreadnought's twenty-seven 12-pounders. The horse-power will be about 25,000, and the displacement about 20,000 tons, while the total weight of metal fired on the broadside will be, roughly, 4,000 lbs.

But while we have stood still Germany and the United States have rushed forward. The exact details of the latest German Dreadnoughts, the construction of which was begun last year, are not accurately known, but it has been announced in the German press that they will displace more than 20,000 tons. They are believed to mount twelve 6.7-in. guns, so arranged that all the 12-in. guns and six of the 6.7-in. weapons can fire on either broadside. In that case, they will discharge about 12,000 lbs. of metal as against the British Neptune's 9,000 lbs., an advantage of 33 per cent. And a study of the old naval war shows that when two fleets were well organized, and well trained for war, a superiority of 25 per cent or less in the weight of metal fired almost invariably proved decisive.

The German Programme.

One indication that the German Dreadnoughts are larger than the ships which England is building is given by the amount of money voted in each country for its new battleships in 1908. The German ships, if we accept the statement of the German Admiralty, are built in three years though the cost is spread over four financial years. The British ships are built in two years, but the cost is spread over three financial years. There is thus one extra annual installment in the case of each German ship, as compared with her British opposite number.

If the German ships are of the same size as the British, the annual installments, being four in number, should each be less by one-fourth than the British installments, which are three in number. It need scarcely be stated that the cost per ton displacement of shipbuilding in Germany is about the same as in England.

But actually Germany is voting an average of 449,000 a piece for the four ships which she provided this year, while England is only voting an average of 447,000 a piece for her four. If the German ships were of the same size, allowing for the four installments, the amount should be only 443,000. It, therefore, seems clear that they are distinctly larger and more powerful.

This is a very serious state of affairs. If Germany will have four Super-Dreadnoughts ready in 1911 or 1912 while we have only Dreadnoughts she will have completely reversed the position which exists to-day.

Yet another power has passed us by constructing Super-Dreadnoughts. The latest particulars of the new United States battleships of the Wyoming class show that they will displace 25,000 tons, thus being the largest war vessels afloat. They will mount twelve 12-in. and sixteen 5-in. guns. Their guns will be so disposed that all twelve 12-in. weapons will fire on either broadside, throwing 11,760 lbs. weight of metal, which is 2,760 lbs. more than the British Neptunes. Moreover, the American ships will have more armor and thicker armor, and their engines will be of 35,000 horse-power, or some 9,000 more than the Neptunes.

It is thoroughly unsatisfactory to find that the Royal navy, which should stand in the very forefront, and which in 1904, when the Dreadnought was designed, did stand in the very forefront so far as the quality of its battleships was concerned, is thus falling behind foreign powers.

The nation has every reason for asking why it is that the British battleships to be laid down this year in this country are not of stronger type, and whether the true explanation of their weakness is not to be found in the chancellor of the exchequer's reluctance to provide the money.

SULTAN'S CIPHER.

Form Always Preserved—How Murad I. Signed a Treaty.

That old grasshopper-like combination of flourish, the Fighira or Sultan's cipher, which figures on official documents, and all public buildings in Turkey, will have to be re-engraved with the name of Mohamed V.

The inscription consists of the name Murad I. That redoubtable warrior could wield a battleship to good purpose, but, like a good many other monarchs of his time, he had not mastered the cunning art of the pen, so when he had to sign a treaty with the merchants of Ragusa he smeared his hand with ink and pressed it on the parchment.

The conventional cipher does not bear much resemblance to the imprint of a human hand. The three upright strokes are said to be the three middle fingers. But, such as it is, it stands for "Murad, his mark."

In the Greek Patriarchate at Jerusalem is preserved a document with a similar sign manual, the actual impression of the hand of one of the Khalifs—Fall Mall Gazette.

CANADIAN MACHINERY SUGGESTED FOR AFRICA

Clearing Line of Railway May Open Market
for it.

Recently a contractor who had secured the contract for the construction of a railway on the west coast of Africa, called at this office, writes Harrison Watson, Canadian representative in London. A section of the line is to pass through dense forest, which will necessitate extensive clearing operations, and the contractor was under the impression that the experience obtained in Canada in clearing land for similar purposes might be of practical value. With that object in view, he wished to get into communication with Canadian manufacturers of sawing machinery and other felling appliances who could not only give him advice, but would be also in a position to supply the necessary plant.

Some twelve miles of the railway pass through thick forest, and it is estimated that there will be some 25,000 to 30,000 trees, ranging from two to eight feet in diameter, which will have to be felled with. These trees are of a widely varying character, but two or three kinds are of a species of hard red wood which is described as being harder than mahogany; others are similar to ash and deal, and there are a good many soft trees, such as cotton. The clearing is to be about 200 feet in width. In addition to felling the trees it would be necessary to grub out them, as many are from 100 to 150 feet in height.

Although Canadian lumbermen are accustomed to felling trees of almost all sizes—including trees of unusual dimensions, more particularly in British Columbia—their operations have been mainly associated with soft wood trees, and the conditions of climate and vegetation differ so essentially that it is somewhat problematical in how far Canadian experience would be adaptable to the west coast of Africa. However, the contractor is taking up the matter direct with some of the Canadian manufacturers. Quotations would be required for a Liverpool.

MADE FOUR MILLIONAIRES.

With the exception of $25,000 to be devoted to charities and his employees, the will of Charles Morrison, the comparatively unknown millionaire, who died recently near Reading, Eng., leaving an estate valued at between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, bequeaths the whole of the vast fortune to relatives. Not since the death of Cecil Rhodes has such a remarkable testament as the will of Mr. Morrison appeared. It has been printed in pamphlet form and shows, in addition to the large gifts to relatives in recent years, that four persons are now made millionaires, namely, a brother, a sister and two nephews, while two nieces get $317,500 each and thirty-nine other relatives fortunes averaging $50,000 each. The government will benefit in the death and succession duties from the estate about $2,000,000.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Phillips-Woolley is spending a few days in town.

Mrs. Fred Landsberg will not receive during July and August.

Mrs. M. McKenzie, of Sidney, is listed among our local visitors.

Mrs. Ulin, Fernwood road, will receive next Wednesday and not again until the autumn.

Mrs. E. B. Marvin, 1234 Fort street, is receiving today and will not receive again until September.

Miss May Stevenson of Nanaimo, is the house guest of Mrs. Stanley McE. Smith, Dunsmuir road.

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Leslie, of Vancouver, arrived in town yesterday and will remain some time.

Listed among our Vancouver visitors are Mr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Connor and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Frazee.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLaren, of Niagara street, returned on Tuesday from an enjoyable week at the A. T. P. exposition.

Miss May Hamilton spent the latter part of last week with friends in Belingham and Vancouver, returning on Saturday.

A party of tourists from Los Angeles, who arrived yesterday, include Mrs. T. A. Dutton, Miss P. A. Dutton and Dr. J. A. Edmonds.

Mrs. Gleason will be the guest of Mrs. Martin, Burnaby street, Vancouver, during her stay there. Mrs. Gleason spent the week-end with friends in New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Tower Ferguson, of Toronto, who are touring the West coast, arrived in town yesterday. They are charmed with Victoria, and will remain some time.

A group of tourists from the eastern provinces includes P. A. Austin, of Belleville, Ont.; James Warburton, Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair, of Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Miss Olivia Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. M. Jenkins, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Emery, 1319 Fernwood road. Miss Jenkins is supervisor of girls at the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Winnipeg.

Mrs. J. W. Walker, Mrs. J. Grant, and Mrs. Hay, were among the Victoria ladies who attended the Maccabee convention held in Vancouver last week. They returned to town on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash, Battery street, are enjoying a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Roberts, from the prairies. Mrs. Roberts is accompanied by her children and will make an extended visit.

Among the latest arrivals from San Francisco are Mr. and Mrs. J. Lindberg, Mrs. W. H. Melson, Wilfred Melson and Mrs. Jessie Melson. They are at the Empress and will remain for some time in town.

The many friends of Mrs. J. T. Legg will be glad to learn that she is making very satisfactory progress in St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Legg has recently undergone a critical operation but is now improving.

Katherine Goodson (Hinton) sent greetings dated May 31st, from the steamship Baltic, to friends in Victoria. Mrs. Goodson and party were en route for England at the time of writing. Miss Goodson's piano recital, under the auspices of the Victoria Musical Club, last autumn, will be remembered with pleasure by all who had the pleasure of hearing.

Mrs. W. Fleet Robertson was the hostess of a charming card party yesterday afternoon which was given in honor of Mrs. Edwards, of Boston, who is the guest of Mrs. Freeman, and Mrs. Griffith, of Golden, who is visiting Mrs. Beasley. The drawing room was beautifully decorated with a profusion of yellow California poppies, the reception rooms in garden pink, and the dining room with pink peonies and roses. The first prize was won by Mrs. Laing, the second by Mrs. Tye and the one five hundred by Mrs. Butchart, while Mr. Leonard was awarded the consolation prize.

Popularity of Bill This Week is Well Merited—Some Features of It.

Despite the many outdoor attractions there have been nothing but capacity houses at the New Grand theatre this week to see the new bill, and the closing performances Saturday night promise to bring the week's attendance pretty near a record for the popular little vaudeville house.

Frank Bacon and company are showing a gem of a biographical farce called "An Easy Liar," that brings the enthusiastic applause out of every spectator as the old way back exasperator tells of his thrilling imaginative experiences in '61 in his own inimitable manner. His support by his daughter and Miss Jeffery is as perfect as his own part in the comedy.

Energy, brains and money by any management could not have brought a better balanced bill here. The Ramsey sisters get a welcome every night, that stamps them as the favorites of the audience. The smaller of the two sisters is responsible for some of the brightest patter and original hit backs. The act takes all round.

Gillian and Murray are a friendly couple of blackface men. The Kreagers, with their clever bounding wire act, and the Kenmores, with a mechanical doll and dancing, are both standard turns.

Thomas J. Price, with a splendid illustrated song well sung, and good motion pictures, make a formidable bill that takes a lot to rival.

In German prisons chess clubs are by no means uncommon. They are encouraged by the authorities as providing healthy mental relaxation for well conducted prisoners.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION

Reports Submitted at the Annual Convention at Vancouver.

Vancouver, June 16.—The 26th annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of British Columbia was formally opened yesterday in the Mount Pleasant Methodist church building, with Mrs. C. Spofford, the president, in the chair. A large number of reports were read by the superintendents of the various divisions, and all showed that excellent work and progress had been accomplished during the past year. In the afternoon the treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Grant, of Victoria, gave her report, which showed that the union is on a firm footing, and an address by Mrs. Spofford followed.

The evening session partook more of the nature of a reception to the guests, a number of addresses from kindred societies being read and a musical programme being executed.

DALSAMIC ESSENCES.

Make Wonderful Cure for Catarrh, Colds, Bronchitis, Throat Weakness.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to root out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts.

This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhzone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs.

The healing vapors of Catarrhzone, with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

Catarrhzone has entirely displaced the old-fashioned remedies, such as cough syrups, sprays, tablets and sedative powders. It contains none of the opium, chloral and drowsy narcotics, so commonly found in liquid cough and catarrh remedies.

The extraordinary curative power of Catarrhzone is well explained in a letter from A. B. Cowan, the well known restaurateur of Carleton, who writes: "Some time ago I suffered severely from a frightful cold in the head and chest. It was nothing but one continual cough, haw, headache from morning till night. My nose and throat were so completely stuffed up that I could scarcely breathe. Catarrhzone eased the cough instantly, that would not yield even to the doctor's medicines. Hour by hour Catarrhzone relieved, and by pursuing its treatment I have been permanently free of all traces of Asthma, Catarrh and Bronchial Irritation."

Once you try Catarrhzone, you'll realize how indispensable it is to the large dollar size contains an indestructible hard rubber inhaler and sufficient medication to last two months. Smaller trial sizes 25c. and 50c. Beware of the substitutor and imitators of Catarrhzone—use the genuine and you'll get cured. By mail from the Catarrhzone Company, Kingston, Ont.

WEDDED IN EAST.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., June 17.—W. W. Hawkins, manager of the Pacific coast division of the United Press Association, was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Margaret F. Wright, at the summer home here of the bride's parents. The bride is the daughter of Major J. M. Wright, of Louisville, Ky., marshal of the United States supreme court. She is popular in New York and Washington society, and is a member of one of the most distinguished families in the south.

Mr. Hawkins made his home in San Francisco, Cal., a year ago, when he took charge of the coast division of the United Press. Prior to that time he held a number of important posts for the association, and was at one time a member of the staff of the famous Louisville Courier-Journal.

FRONTIER LIFE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

"Woodsmen of the West,"
Written by Local Author,
Now on Sale.

Among the new books to be received in the local bookstores is one that cannot fail to attract Victorians. It is "Woodsmen of the West," by M. Allerdale Grainger, who lives in Victoria. The book has to do with experiences in British Columbia, and is written by a Cambridge Wrangler. Unaccustomed to the ways of a new country he plunged into the arduous tasks connected with frontier life. Employed in survey parties in the northern interior and again in the lumber woods, Mr. Grainger learned at first hand the ways of the makers of a new country. He never shirked any of the duties presenting themselves, and is described by those who associated with him as a ready worker afraid of none of the inconveniences, privations, or hard work that presented itself.

By meeting all the attacks he learned all that was to be learned.

Unobtrusive, clean-cut, astonishingly life-like, with classic severity of outline, an entire elimination of sex element, and a very real understanding of poor human nature, Mr. Grainger's book is a splendid epic of struggle—the sort of struggle, often futile, always almost superhumanly brave, that is being waged, unwarded, unaided, year in, year out, by many and many a man and brother in many and many a distant corner of the Empire, says a recent reviewer. "Logging" at first sight, it is true, makes no immediate appeal to the imagination. Most of us are aware that the term applies to the felling and preparing for the saw-mills of the giant timber in the forests that fringe the Pacific coast of Canada; not all of us, perhaps, remember that there is probably no more strenuous work on the face of the earth; and to but few is it given to discover in it those elements which make for romance and the romantic.

Mr. Grainger preferring manual work in which "every step is critical, and human life presents itself naked and varying to its lowest terms," to the usual mental occupations of the mathematician, went west and found it on those floods which divide the coast of British Columbia from the three-hundred-mile stretch of Vancouver Island.

The shores of these floods are mostly mountain slopes. Covered with green forest, they comprise that northern logging country where timber is everywhere, timber standing, timber fallen, timber floating, white tree-top and drift logs lie piled high upon the beach. In the camp of a master-hand logger, Carter by name, Grainger learned the strenuous art of logging, of running a cranky old steamboat, and of working a wheezy donkey-engine.

"Working for wages," Grainger found not altogether satisfactory. On a camp like Carter's there is always "plenty of work, plenty of occupation for mind and body, plenty of soul-satisfaction." One doesn't bother as to whether this thing or that is worth doing, or whether it's going to be any use or satisfy ultimate standards. The boss settles all that. There is definite work to be done. There is nature and natural obstacles, and not one's fellow-men—to be struggled against. There is the great charm of life in unutilized parts, and there is plenty of call upon physical endurance, upon moral qualities, reasoning powers, goodwill. Work in the west is always hard, intermittent, disappointing sometimes, especially in the boom-taper, heart-breaking, but it is a more buoyant affair than the deadly treadmill work that goes on for forty-nine per cent. of the year, in cities. In the work, too, there is visible result.

"One's work makes a difference. One's self and one's decisions have some obvious importance. One is vain of his own self, and in this happy state money can clearly be regarded as a by-product."

And there are no appearances to be kept up. There is one's work, that must be done well, but that is all that matters. For the rest one is free, for there is out west "a toleration that surpasses all the understanding of the old-country English."

Carter had been many things in his time. He had worked on river in Michigan; been a trapper up in the Cariboo; assistant timberman in a Montana mine; prospector, railroad foreman, saloon-man (a job which gave him for ever after the joy of being able to talk of the time "when I was running a hotel"), and finally, hand-laborer. It was probably from his work as a railroad foreman that Carter got the manner and voice that made him the best-hated man in the logging country. The best sort of western workingman is shy and sensitive to a degree, and pretty free with his dislike to an employer. In busy times, therefore, Carter could only keep his camp equipped by aid of a continual stream of newly-hired men—this up at the foot of the mountain, sixty miles of storm-swept water away from anywhere. So he bought the Sonora—surely the dearest, most delightful of steamboats whose doings ever filtered through to fame!—put his partner, Bill, to captain her and thus kept communication open between his camp and the nearest town.

Bill was a hustler too, not rude or volcanic like Carter, but in his gentle way, equally keen on "getting the job done." "Get wood and water by day; run by night, keep-awake-all-the-time," was his motto, and how he made that old steamboat work! The Sonora was the most humorous thing in history. She was just a jest, though she made enough noise for an ocean liner. Awful things happened to her; once about a foot of injector piping blew away.

"But we continued our voyage. Sometimes, achieving her allotted head of steam, the Sonora would dash full tilt ahead, perhaps six miles an hour. The whole boat would quake in a kind of palsy; the engines would palpitate—jigety-jigety-klunk-klunk!—we ourselves would feel lively. But it never lasted long."

Something would begin to hammer and bang, and soon Bill would stop the engines and the Sonora would drift at random, the captain wildly working with spanners the while. Everything on the Sonora was antique. Carter never spent a penny on repairs, much less improvements. There was nothing new to far upon you. In the engine room steam was always squirting energetically out of places that Bill would be intending to fix (with rags held by clamps) next time he should have the chance. A stroke of hard fate deprived Bill and Carter—her joint owners—of the Sonora. She was a tangible asset. She represented two thousand dollars of hard-earned, very hard-earned, money—and she sank. A storm made her drag anchor. Carter, as usual, was too busy to attend to her not apparently immediate pressing wants—and so she disappeared, and her loss grieved both men bitterly.

And the end, the end of all this "wrenching and tearing and intensity of effort," these bitter hardships and but small rewards? There is no end, of course. Only, always there is a struggle, the struggle for supremacy, the struggle to live, the struggle just not to die. Somewhere, everywhere, in dim, far corners of the Empire, men such as Carter are struggling to-day as they struggled yesterday and will struggle yet again to-morrow. All too that the romance of Empire may be written. For Mr. Grainger's story, while it entrances, also appeals. If the work it so finely describes spells value to the world at large, it spells too often futility to the worker. Out in the wilds it seems, as here, only the truly great (or the greatly unscrupulous) succeed. The smaller man, "struggle his heart out" though he may, only just keeps level, often goes under after all. In the fierce fight with virgin nature only superhuman effort avails. The fighter, like the Channel swimmer, must swim for hours just to keep his place. And only once in many years does a man win through. We at home, I think, would be none the worse, we might be better, for a few more books like "Woodsmen of the West." We know too little of these struggling lives, too much of our puny ones. If only in the realization of their settings—a solitary grandeur far above the dreams of the clerk in a crowded city—we should know more.

Ten Cakes—A favorite little dainty for the tea table is salted wafers or round thin water crackers covered with beaten white of egg, through which has been mixed finely-chopped English walnuts. The crackers are baked in a hot oven and served instead of small cakes.

Put a little "Sunshine" in your home

An old-fashioned, ill-working furnace is a non-producer.

It consumes the coal, but through leaks and cracks wastes the heat.

It is not economy to have such a furnace in your own home, or in your tenant's home.

If you are thinking of building you should be interested in Sunshine Furnace. It adds 100 per cent. to home comforts.

As soon as you let the contract for your house decide on your furnace. The "Sunshine" man will be pleased to tell you just how the rooms ought to be laid out with an eye to securing greatest heat from the smallest consumption of coal.

If you want to experiment with the question don't specify "Sunshine."

If you want to settle the question specify "Sunshine."

LITTLE AID FOR LIFEBOAT WORK

PUBLIC ATTITUDE IS ONE OF APATHY

Annual Meeting of Lifeboat and Life-saving Association is Held.

That the citizens of Victoria are almost utterly apathetic in regard to the work of the Lifeboat and Life-saving Association is the opinion expressed in the annual report of the officers of the association, submitted to the members at the annual meeting, held in the city hall last evening. The members agreed that some steps must be taken to arouse a keener interest, more sympathy and larger contributions.

The report, which was adopted, was as follows:

Another year having passed away, being the third since this association was incorporated by special act of the legislature of British Columbia, your committee as in duty bound are called upon to give an account of their stewardship for the 12 months ending 31st March 1909, and in doing so regret to have to make mention of the continued and deplorable apathy and indifference on the part of the public of Victoria. An agent was appointed to interview and canvass in solicitation of subscriptions and donations towards the association's funds but at the outset of his work he was met with such scant recognition that he at once abandoned it.

Does it not really appear that nothing short of "Clallam" or "Valencia" disaster with their terrible death-roll is calculated to move the citizens of Victoria. It should be borne in mind that this association is not intended to be limited in its operations to the waters adjacent to Victoria, but is designed and intended to apply to the entire coast and internal waters of British Columbia. Knowing not the day or hour when casualty at sea may arise, it is due to our common humanity to show a more humane spirit than at present prevails by some semblance of preparedness in most emergency. What words can be used to bring an awakening to duty? Awake! Awake! ere it be too late to save, possibly kinship or friend, or in short some human being from the mighty deep. The cry has gone forth that "government should provide all that is required for life saving." Governments, like Providence, should help those who are prepared to help themselves and it cannot be doubted that when the people of British Columbia put their hand into their pocket, and show their appreciation of this association's work by their dollars, the provincial government will supplement such, financed effort many fold. Your committee are not unmindful of the good service the provincial government has already rendered, and let it be said that there is reasonable hope for direct monetary aid in the near future.

Your committee note with much regret the disaster which has befallen the excellent motor lifeboat of the Dominion stationed at Banfield and hope it may be speedily replaced by, as is contemplated, a much superior craft. The Dominion government are to be thanked for the good work done and being done on the west coast of Vancouver Island, "the graveyard of ships," in extension of trails along the coast, improvement of lights, buoys, look-out stations, telephone, wireless telegraph and other works all with a view to either prevent or render best possible aid in the event of any seafaring casualty.

In November last an officer from the Dominion marine and fisheries department, Ottawa, when on a business mission to the Pacific coast, inspected the crew, going out with them and putting them through sundry manoeuvres, expressed himself as highly pleased with the efficiency displayed by one and all.

This crew is composed of volunteers mainly from the Young Men's Christian Association, of whom it may be said they have had a profitable second season. The knowledge gained the first year has been faithfully put in practice and this has been a year of advancement. Mr. Lawrie has been coxswain, but interest has been added by the discovery that Mr. Edward Williams, deputy coxswain found to be a thorough able seaman and experienced lifeboat man. He has kept the interest going by continuing the work and generally assisting the crew in a seamanlike manner. Mr. Bruce, the able secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has by his personal effort and assistance added strength to the good work. The crew have gained proficiency in rowing and are now well able to handle the lifeboat in a heavy and dangerous sea. They have mastered the art of throwing ropes and gained excellent knowledge in sailing. The discipline has been good and besides the regular crew of 12 men a half dozen spare men are also available. Mr. Marsh has been a firm friend and steady supporter of every member of the crew, and it is believed that the social evenings given by the committee of the association have assisted in no small degree in developing a necessary and proper esprit de corps.

To the Canadian Pacific railway, through the good offices of Captain J. W. Troup, most sincere thanks are due for that in January last this association, jointly with the Seamen's Institute, was permitted the benefit of a public inspection of the new and palatial ship the Princess Charlotte on her arrival on this coast, this making a most gratifying addition to the association's funds. This was augmented by sundry willing hands, notably Mr. George Parkinson and Mr. Joseph Buckley, who volunteered and rendered valuable gratuitous assistance.

Your committee have observed with much appreciation the meritorious work of Mr. Ian St. Clair, not only in aquatic tuition, but in matters of life saving and protection in the Gorge and other waters.

The question of adding power to the association's lifeboat is still in abeyance lacking public support to enable it to be carried out.

This association has with woe-stricken feeling sorrowfully to record the loss by death of two of its most valued helpers and vice-patrons, viz.: The Honorable Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, K. C. M. G. (ex-lieutenant-governor of British Columbia), and the Honorable Sir Donald Currie, K. C. M. G. Had it not been for the generous financial aid rendered by these two noble liberal-minded and sympathetic gentlemen, this association would hardly now have had an existence.

The upkeep and renovation of the lifeboat has had considerable care and attention during the year which together with providing a proper gangway to the boathouse and locker and other fittings, have told somewhat heavily upon the association's slender exchequer, and a public appeal for funds is fast becoming imperative.

In conclusion—gratitude the fairest blossom that springs from the soul than which the heart of man knoweth, none more fragrant, is most heartily accorded to each and every member of the crew. To be enrolled in so noble a work as that of life saving—speaks a nobility of mind and disposition which is beyond all human praise. God speed the lifeboat and long live its noble crew.

H. D. HELMCKEN, President.

J. PETERSON, Secretary-Treasurer.

The financial statement showed that during the year receipts totalled $336.62, including a balance carried forward from last year of $241.97; subscriptions $11; interest $10, and proceeds from the reception held on the Princess Charlotte $8.35. Expenditures amounted to $232.57, leaving a balance of $244.35.

Rev. E. G. Miller said it was awful to contemplate the most complete indifference of the public to the noble work of saving life at sea. It was disheartening to those engaged in the work and he hoped some steps would be taken to enlist sympathy for it was most important that the association's work be carried on. Mr. Miller referred in grateful terms to the services of the secretary, Joseph Peterson, Ian St. Clair spoke along similar lines.

The secretary stated that he had been led to understand by Commander Spain that the Dominion would place $500 in the estimates last session to assist the association. This appropriation had not been made and he suggested that Hon. Wm. Templeman be waited upon when he arrives here and urged to use his influence. Mr. Peterson said it would be a great aid to the association if the Dominion government would let them have the engines from the Banfield lifeboat. He understood from Admiral Kingsmill that the government contemplated putting in a larger and finer boat to replace the wrecked boat at Banfield.

J. S. Bailey suggested lectures, illustrated by lantern views of life-saving work, as a means of creating public interest.

The new committee will meet on June 26th and will consider what can be done.

The following officers were elected: President—H. Dallas Helmcken, K. C., re-elected. Vice-presidents—A. J. C. Galletly, Rev. E. G. Miller, A. E. McPhillips, K. C., Mayor Hall and Paul Beyrau, C. E., all re-elected.

Treasurer—Joseph Peterson, re-elected. Committee—J. S. Bailey, W. H. Spurrier, Capt. J. T. Walbran, A. W. Bridgman, A. S. Margison, H. Harris, E. T. Lawrie, A. J. Bruce, H. C. Marsh, Jas. Maynard, Ian St. Clair, Edward Williams.

SURGEON'S OPINION KNIFE FOR THE PILES

Operating Often a Fad—The Modern Way of Curing Piles is With DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Sir Henry C. Burdett, K. C. B., of London, Eng., in a recent address said: "What we want are surgeons, who with wisdom to be conservative—have courage to protest against the growing tendency to put a knife into everybody on the smallest possible pretext."

Too many doctors have a desire to use the knife at every opportunity. The rewards to them are rich, but think of the suffering of body and mind, the enormous expense and the risk of life itself. An operation should be the last resort for a man in spite of growing promises the results are often very disappointing.

Many a sufferer from piles has been cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, after operations have failed. Hundreds of thousands have escaped operations by using this treatment first and thereby obtaining cure.

Mr. Arthur Lapine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont., writes: "For two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cup of blood. I went to the Ottawa General Hospital to be operated on, and was under the influence of chloroform for one hour. For about two months I was better, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. One of my doctors told me I would have to undergo another operation, but I would not consent.

"My father, proprietor of the Richelieu Hotel, Ottawa, advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and two boxes cured me. I did not lose any blood after beginning this treatment, and believe the cure is a permanent one. I gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the best treatment in the world for bleeding piles." 60 cts. a box at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BRYAN'S VIEWS OF TARIFF.

Chicago, June 15.—Wm. Jennings Bryan yesterday said the tariff legislation now being enacted by the senate is the boldest piece of legislation brigandage ever attempted in this country. Bryan denied that he desired, or expected to be a candidate for the United States senate.

IMPROVING CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY

Hundreds of Men at Work Between Port Arthur and Fort Francis.

In an interview in a Rainy River paper Superintendent Cameron, of the C. N. R., states: "All along the line between Port Arthur and Fort Frances work trains and steam shovels are busy. Three work trains are working at ballast work from Kaskabowia, 82 miles west of Port Arthur, in both an easterly and westerly direction. On the Attikokan section east of Fort Frances, ballast is being distributed, three more trains being engaged in this work. A new steam shovel is employed on the Attikokan section and another new machine will be going to work on the same section shortly. Still another work train service will be put on at Mattawin this week. Each work gang will employ sixty or seventy men in the ballast service. Smaller gangs are busy clearing away brush and rubbish on the right of way out of Kaskabowia falls and this work will be extended as far as Fort Frances.

"Steel of the eighty and eighty-five pound class will be laid from Fort Frances to Port Arthur and as soon as the first load of steel arrives by boat the work will be started. Four gangs of men, seventy in each gang, will be employed on steel laying commencing simultaneously from Port Arthur and Fort Frances. Two gangs besides will be also occupied in distributing the new steel and loading up the old rails into new cars.

"An important piece of work that the C. N. R. will have done this summer is the doing away with the Stanley hill, which has in the past occasioned great inconvenience to the company and prevented a quick freight service being possible as far as west-bound freight is concerned. The grade will be cut down from Slate to Kaskabowia Falls, and when the work is finished Stanley will not be on the main line of the Canadian Northern railway, but will be on the Duluth extension only. The contract was let to a Lethbridge firm and the contractors have begun the work at Onan and Norquist, whose men are now on the ground preparing to get to work on the improvements immediately. This work will be finished by October of this year."

When Mr. Driscoll was in Port Arthur he spent some time making arrangements for the handling of G. T. P. steel for the west over the new C. N. R. steamer dock, which has recently been completed.

The Paris courts have awarded $200 to Mile. Bernheim, a well known actress, for damage done by a dish of green peas over her. They completely ruined her dress, and her shoulder was burnt. The court valued the dress at $150 and the shoulder at $250.

CONSTIPATION

BRITISH ASSOCIATION

MEMBERS COMING

Many of Them Will Be Visitors to Victoria This Year.

The meeting of the British Association in Winnipeg this year is attracting a great deal of attention. The gathering takes place on August 25th and will be followed by a tour through Canada by most of the members, who come from the east. Some of the members will, however, arrive from various points, such as Australia, New Zealand and the Orient. These will visit British Columbia first, and some of them will pay a visit to Alaska before proceeding to Winnipeg.

In order that the members may have full information in regard to the rates to Alaska and other points on the Pacific Coast a circular is being sent out by the Natural History Society in conjunction with the provincial government. The circular has been prepared by Moses Cotsworth, an actuary in the employ of the government, who is also a member of the Natural History Society.

The larger number of the members of the British Association should arrive here about September 8th or 9th. They will spend a day in Victoria and in the evening will be entertained at a reception in the parliament building.

A large section of the association who are interested in mountaineering will be the guests of the Canadian Alpine Club at their camp at Lake O'Hara.

KILLED BECAUSE SHE WAS TOO BEAUTIFUL

Excuse of Husband Who Was Responsible for Death of Wife.

Believing his wife was the most beautiful woman in the world and that the fatal gift caused her to succumb to the attentions of men who flattered her, Gaspar Zittnick determined to take her out of temptation's way, says a New York dispatch. So as she slept in their home, No. 259 East Sixteenth street, on February 17th, he poured sulphuric acid over her face, hoping to mar her beauty. The acid worked into her eyes and thence to her brain, and she died.

That, at least, was the explanation made to Judge Malone in general sessions court in an affidavit from Zittnick submitted by his counsel. But Judge Malone did not think the excuse plausible and sent Zittnick to prison for not less than ten years nor more than twenty. He was indicted for murder in the first degree, but was permitted to plead guilty to manslaughter in the first degree.

His affidavit said he was married in Budapest fourteen years ago. Five years ago the woman deserted him and his child and came to the United States. He followed her, found her, and induced her to return to him. But even then he said she forgot her marriage vows. His remonstrances had no effect, and then the thought came to him that if she were not so beautiful other men would not care for her. His affidavit says:

"She drove me away from her, but I could not live without her. At last I determined to make her hideous and unattractive to other men. I poured acid on her face as she slept, not with the intention of killing her, but in the hope of destroying her beauty and keeping her to myself and making her dependent upon me."

Mother Awakens to Find Her Baby Dead.

San Francisco, Cal., June 17.—Awakening yesterday morning, Mrs. William Quinn was horrified to find her month-old baby girl lying cold in death at her breast. The child had cried during the night, and its mother had taken it from its crib to her own bed. Mrs. Quinn felt asleep, and the baby, beneath the heavy covers, was smothered. The frantic mother was driven almost insane. She threw herself to the floor, tearing out her hair and screaming with anguish. Her husband was aroused before she was able to do herself serious injury. She is confined to her bed in a precarious condition.

PROSPECTORS FROM OBSERVATORY INLET

Steamer Vado took in Settlers and Brought Out Miners.

Steamer Vado, of the Boscowitz line, arrived last night from northern B. C. ports. She brought a consignment of very fine spruce timber to Vancouver, 32,000 feet in all, which is being sent over to Liverpool. Some of the timbers were 60 feet in length, eight inches by eighteen inches, clean and carefully selected. There was also on board a consignment of salt spring salmon and a few hundred cases of canned salmon.

From Goose Bay the Vado brought a dozen prospectors, headed by Norman Kane, to Prince Rupert. They had with them some samples of very fine looking ore, and were all enthusiastic over the prospects of that district. Most of them were going to Prince Rupert to record their claims and to obtain supplies for further work. The only deputy mining recorder in that district is a lady, Mrs. McGraw, of Alice Arm, on Observatory Inlet.

The Vado took north a party of 15 settlers for the Ootsa Lake district. These were from Southern Oregon. They took with them 17 horses. This is simply one of a large number of parties going into that country this spring and summer. Another passenger on the southern trip was an agent of the Dominion government who is making observations in regard to the tides at different points along the coast. He went to Hartley Bay, but will also put instruments at Kitimaat, Bella Coola and other points.

There was not a large list of passengers southbound. Frank Eric, manager of the Brunswick cannery, at Rivers Inlet, made a flying trip on business, and will return from Vancouver with supplies for the season. The Brunswick is one of the canneries operated by the B. C. Packers' Association.

The Vado will leave for the north again to-night.

Tug Lorie is being equipped with a new boiler by the Commercial Boiler Works. She is being docked for a change in her sea valve, cleaning and examination. The house has been taken off and the old boiler removed. The new boiler is said to be one of the finest pieces of work ever seen on the Pacific coast.

Steamer Antiochus will complete the work of discharging her cargo this evening and will leave for Vancouver, for which port she has about 5,000 tons.

REVIEW OF JAPANESE
SHIPBUILDING TRADE

No New Contracts Being Let Points to Serious Depression.

The shipbuilding industry of Japan during 1908 is reviewed by the Japan Advertiser of Yokohama as follows: The Japanese dockyards were occupied mainly in fitting out vessels built in previous years and in the reconstruction of ships captured in the late war; their new tonnage is, therefore, comparatively small. The armored cruiser, Ikoma, of 14,000 tons, was completed and commissioned early in 1908, and her sister ship, the Ibuki, fitted with Curtis turbines, is ready for speed trials. In mercantile work perhaps the most notable launch was that of the large floating dock at Kobe by the Mitsui Bishi Company. This dock was built entirely of home made steel. The two 8,600-ton steamers launched by the Kawasaki are the largest vessels yet built by this firm, and the volunteer fleet steamer Sakura Maru, by the Mitsui Bishi company, is the first ship fitted with turbines made in Japan. New contracts have practically ceased since the beginning of 1908, and the trade is now becoming seriously depressed. At the Mitsui Bishi Works eight vessels of 62,000 tons and 52,100 indicated horse power, are building. Among these are a third turbine liner for the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, the second turbine for the Japanese volunteer fleet, and six other steamers. Most of these will be completed in 1909. The Kawasaki company have 21,200 tons of new work, including two cargo steamers of 12,000 tons, and a few torpedo craft for Siam, and the Osaka Iron Works have an auxiliary sailing ship and a few dredgers. A large number of oil motor fishing smacks are being built in Japan, and it is stated that more than 200 of these craft will be afloat in the spring of 1909.

STEEL COMPANY'S SURPLUS.

Montreal, June 17.—The annual statement of the Dominion Iron & Steel Company shows a net surplus for last year of over $1,500,000.

Steamer Leebro left for Carmanah yesterday with supplies for the new Carmanah fog alarm.

Before the Royal Statistical Society, London, W. R. Baldwin-Wiseman mentioned how London yearly disposes of 125,000,000 gallons. Liverpool 10,801,000,000 gallons, and Manchester 1,615,000,000 gallons of water.

PERPETUATING NAME OF STEAMER VADSO

Port of Entry on Vancouver Island Named in Honor of Steamer.

The Vado is to be the name of a new town at the north end of Vancouver Island. This place will be situated at the head of Suscharlie Bay, the natural outlet for a district which is rapidly being opened up for settlement by agriculturists. About fifty settlers, all men, have gone in to the country this spring. Their families are beginning to arrive and will follow them into the district as soon as there is suitable accommodation for them.

The main settlement will be back a short distance from the coast, where, according to reliable reports received, there is a very fine wide valley, fertile in the extreme, and easy to clear. A number of cattle and horses were taken in there about a month ago on a scow towed by the steamer Vado. Since that time the Boscowitz steamers have been making regular calls at the place, the Vado or her last trip taking several settlers on her way north, and calling on the return trip for one of the men prominent in making arrangements for the settlement.

The latest move is to establish a post office at the head of the bay, and this necessitated a name. The settlers realized that they were deeply indebted to the proprietors of the steamer Vado for sending that vessel out of her way to oblige them on several occasions, so they decided to name the place Vado in honor of the steamer. The name is particularly suitable because it is a Norwegian name, meaning "Town on an Island."

There is at present nothing but a trail between Vado and the interior settlement, but the government surveyors are engaged in laying out a road which will be built in the near future, so that the new colony will have communication with the sea. A wharf will also be constructed on Shuscharlie Bay, and then "Vado" will be entitled to a place on the map of Vancouver Island.

THE AWAKENING OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie declares that the progress of New Brunswick in the next half century will make it pre-eminent among the Atlantic provinces of the Dominion. His article in the June 19th issue of Collier's is an amazing story of natural resources.

A COMPREHENSIVE SERVICE

All the News of Canada, of the Coast, of the World.

Intelligence Dragnet Gathers All the Important Happenings for this Paper.
The Different Sources From Which The Times Obtains Its Splendid News Service Are as Follows :

EUROPEAN SERVICE

THE EUROPEAN MANAGER of the United Press is Mr. Chas. Stewart, one of the best known of news gatherers in the world. While he is located at London, he keeps an alert eye on all European points, and he has that swift intuition, that "nose for news," which means "scoops."

Early in the spring the president of the United Press received the following dispatch from Stewart: "Gone to Constantinople." No Explanation was given, but subsequent events showed that Stewart had anticipated the cataclysm there, had hurried to the scene, organized his news syndicate, with reporters all through the affected districts, and had installed an experienced Turkish newspaper man as staff correspondent. Stewart was back in London before the crash came, but so perfect was his organization and so accurately had he anticipated the movement of events there that the United Press hopelessly distanced all competitors, and gave its papers the news of the deposition of the Sultan, Abdul Hamid, and the name of his successor while papers served by more ancient systems were telling of the retention of Abdul as a constitutional sovereign.

This is but a sample of the prompt and efficient way in which the news of the Old World is handled

CANADIAN EVENTS

Domnion News, Covered by Special Correspondents of "The Times"

CANADA IS RAPIDLY coming into its own, not only as to natural wealth and growth but as a source of important happenings. To specially provide for this the Times has its own representatives in Ottawa and Winnipeg, who compile for this paper the news of the east and the Canadian middle west, respectively. Many events in these districts which in a general way are of minor importance are of special interest to residents of Victoria because of the number of easterners and plains people who have settled on Vancouver Island. This service is being steadily expanded and assures Times readers of the news, not only of the world at large, but the particular news of their own land.

In this way it rounds out the splendid service which the Times is giving its readers.

COAST AND AMERICAN NEWS

THE LEASED WIRE which runs into the Times office has its northern extremity in Vancouver, and its southern terminus in San Diego. It runs northward from the latter point through the cities of San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Bellingham. By this means, and owing to the fact that every paper taking the United Press service is a co-operative member of the organization and furnishes to the association the news of its own district, an almost instant report on all important news on the coast is obtained without having to filter out by the circuitous and slow methods which prevail unless up-to-date is used.

Eastward from San Francisco and Portland the other leased wires of the United Press connect the coast line with all the important eastern and middle west centres and by cable with the European office in London. A perfect news dragnet is spread in which not only ALL the news is obtained, but its delivery while it is still NEWS is assured.

A GREAT COAST TELEGRAPH SERVICE

FROM CALIFORNIA TO ALASKA

People like to hear, first, about themselves, and then about their sisters, their cousins and their aunts. This is the basic principle of news. A big gooseberry in your neighbor's garden is of more importance as a news item than a new volcano in Japan.

—Sir Edwin Arnold.

FROM CALIFORNIA TO ALASKA

If Sir Edwin Arnold was right, the news of the Coast, from California to Alaska, is of more vital interest to the people of Vancouver Island than important happenings in Georgia or in New Jersey.

The Times' leased wire, next to its efficiency and promptness in handling world events, is principally noteworthy for its ample Coast service. In this it has no peer. Thousands of words daily are delivered to this paper relating to Coast happenings.

Coast residents, therefore, can get the news of the Coast satisfactorily only by reading The Times.

This full and up-to-date compendium of news appears every night in The Times. It costs the reader no more than a paper with a weak service.

cafés and the revolvers. The men were charged with having entered the saloon of John Barzal, two miles west of Chicago Heights, New Year's Eve, and having robbed Barzal of $30 and a watch and chain. They were arrested by the Chicago Heights police a few days after the robbery.—Chicago Evening Post.

How often, says a writer in the Juniper Strand, an invention which at first was called a plaything of youth has been adopted for utilitarian purposes. Still, it is usually associated with a boy or girl in the clown at a circus, but some years since a Kentucky farmer suggested the idea of putting them to a useful purpose by using them as a step-ladder by which to reach the top of the hop-poles for flinging the stones. The idea was not only extensively used by hop-growers, in the hop districts at certain times of the year, numbers of men may be seen at work apparently in mid-air.

HIGH GRADE GOLD
ON NEW CREEK

Number of Men Preparing to Work Claims on Herbert.

The finest poke of gold from a new creek shown in Dawson for years has just been brought to Dawson from Discovery claim on Herbert creek, says
the Dawson News. It was brought by Harry Pinkert, who with C. P. Dolan, own the claim.

The gold is very coarse and smooth.
Much pumpkin seed gold is in the lot, and scarcely any of it is smaller than a grain of wheat, while the most of it is much larger.

The deep rich yellow gives the gold much the appearance of the Jack Wade product, and it is something to make every old prospector sit-up and open his eyes with delight. It assays.
It is predicted, between $17 and $18.50
an ounce.

It contains quite a number of fantastic pieces and, on the whole, is just the class of gold that jewelers like to get for making fancy nugget wear.

This cleanup is the result of a few weeks' run. Mr. Dolan, who has a boiler on the ground and is conducting the work, encountered a rocky reef, which so crossed the claim that he had to quit a drift and go above the reef and sink another hole. Dolan has five men at work, and they are putting down the new shaft fifty feet farther up stream.

The average depth to bedrock on the creek is twelve feet. Dolan has three holes down on the creek and is sinking two on the hillsides. He hopes to open continuous pay.

"Of the forty or more claims on Herbert," says Mr. Pinkert, "men are nearly every one, and are putting up cabins and getting ready to work.
Some of the claims have been sold, but those who now hold ground have raised the price of late. I never saw a finer lot of people than those on Herbert.
Several men have their wives with them, among them being Messrs. Dolan, Schuler, Potter and Wooley."

SAANICH MUNICIPAL COURT OF REVISION

Sitting Will Be Held on June 24
—Foresters Nominate Officers.

(Special Correspondence.)
Gordon Head, June 16.—At the forthnightly meeting of the Court Douglas Ancient Order of Foresters, held in the Cedar Hill Temperance hall, the chief feature was the nomination of officers.
It is expected that the installation will be held at the next meeting. The lodge is in a thriving condition, and the majority of the young men in the district are members.

A strawberry social will be held in the Cedar Hill Temperance hall on Friday, the 18th inst. The Dramatic Club intend presenting a farce comedy
in the near future.

On Thursday, June 24th the court of revision for the municipality of the district of Saanich will be held in the municipal office, Grandford avenue, for the purpose of hearing appeals from the assessment.

Jack Irvine met with a painful accident on Friday last. He was chopping wood and the axe slipping, cut a deep gash in his left hand.

Rev. Frank Stone, chaplain of the Seamen's mission at San Francisco,
who has been visiting his friend Rev.
A. J. Collison, left for his home last week.

ABUNDANT SUPPLY
OF ORE AND FUEL

President of Pennsylvania Railway on Future of This Province.

James McCrea, president of the Pen-sylvania railway system, speaks optimistically regarding the future of British Columbia. When he was in Vancouver, Mr. McCrea was interviewed by a World representative and said that he always enjoyed his visits to the northwest coast, just to see what the western roads were doing with the Atlantic trade. The amount of products originating in the country of the future,
territory that goes through these Pacific ports is rapidly increasing and they find it necessary to see to their connections so that no dispute can arise
as to rates and agreements.

"It would be unwise of me to attempt to say too much of British Columbia
for the reason that the extent of its resources are practically unknown," said President McCrea. "Everybody believes they are almost limitless and we in Pennsylvania have come to believe that this is one of the sections of the world that will astonish us by its richness and wealth, once it is properly underway."

Speaking of the business conditions back east, Mr. McCrea said: "They are improving very rapidly, but have not quite reached the height to which they had attained before the financial difficulties of a year or more ago. If the crops are good, then the steel business will be good, and everything in our country depends on that, and coal.
If the deposits or iron and coal in this province are anything like our own,
then this is the country of the future."

Mr. McCrea said that the steel industry of publicists that the steel industry would most likely lose its centre in Pittsburgh and move to the foot of the Great Lakes, seemed possible enough, but it will take a long time. The new town of Gary, Indiana, built by the Steel Trust, is a better distributor centre for the manufactured products
than it is at Pittsburgh, but the latter place will always figure in the steel-making business so long as she has control of the coal and coke supply. Mr. McCrea said he thought it would be a long time before steel and iron are made here in any appreciable quantity, but there is no doubt that both the ore and the fuel are here in abundance.

PLEASANT PARTY GIVEN AT SIDNEY

Mrs. Roberts Welcomed Home
by Members of Epworth League.

A very pleasant surprise was given
Mrs. G. Roberts, of Sidney, on her return from Vancouver, where she has been spending six weeks with her sister, Mrs. Leighton. The young people of the Epworth League of Sidney and North Saanich assembled and gave a garden social in the gardens of her own home. A fine programme was rendered by Miss Morris, Miss Roberts, Miss Robinson and Mr. D. Horth, assisted by J. McCarthy, violinist. After the programme, tea, coffee and ice-cream was served with cake, by the elder ladies. The young people then played games and made good use of the swing, while the older people occupied the veranda and enjoyed a musical programme. The grounds reminded one of Beacon Hill park on a 24th of May night.

Much praise was given J. A. Kelly
for the very artistic way he arranged the different shades of lanterns and other things. At 12:30 o'clock the Rev.
Mr. Wood closed the party with prayer and the National Anthem, when everybody went home with a feeling of satisfaction and with good wishes for the prosperity of the Epworth League.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

Programme This Week Is Drawing Excellent Houses.

The happy combination of vaudeville attraction at the Pantages theatre this week is drawing large audiences. The programme includes some novel features which make it especially interesting, and well merit the patronage bestowed. Edward Barnes, ragtime champion, and Mabel Robinson, comedienne; the Raynor company, in a farce comedy, "How Fizzer Fixed It"; Octavia and Warm, singing and acrobatic specialties; Frederick Rogers, fancy roller skating; Adelaide Rogers singing to illustrations and funny motion pictures are all good numbers.

The Jesuit Fathers will conduct a mission, beginning with high mass, in the St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral on Sunday.

In order to get the 10 per cent rebate on provincial taxes these must be paid by June 30th. The great part of the taxes are paid within the time specified.

George Fraser has just installed in his drug store on Government street a new equipment of cases. These are composed nearly entirely of plate glass, only the bases being of wood and metal. The new cases afford an excellent opportunity for Mr. Fraser to display his splendid stock. The interior of the store has been altered to suit
the new arrangements.

HANDSOME BRASS BEDS AT $30

Stylish Beds of Superior Quality at Fairest of Prices

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY, THEN COME IN AND SEE MORE

YOU won't find more attractive Brass Beds shown anywhere than these stylish beds offered here. Certain it is that no better values are offered in the West than the price tags on these represent. Products of the largest metal bed factory in the world, they are a delight to the eye. Extensive purchases to supply a large wholesale as well as retail trade secures for us very special prices and enables us to offer such exceptionally good values.

Brass Beds in plenty can be purchased elsewhere at similar prices, but compare those beds with ours and you'll see the big values we offer. It's the Weiler quality standard in beds as in other lines.

We are displaying some of the styles we offer in one of our Broughton street windows. Glance at these bed styles, then come up to the fourth floor and see the other interesting styles shown there. For we have brass beds from $120 to $30.

would do credit to the furnishings of any home.

One style is in Mission
design and finished in Early English. Made of selected oak. This is a very attractive desk style.
Hinges, drawer pulls, etc.,
are of "old brass." Price is $22

We also have a stylish

Diningroom Furniture in Early English Mission

DINING ROOMS finished with Mission
Furniture and furnishings to match have become very popular of late. And to supply the popular demand for this class of furniture we have gathered here one of the most comprehensive collections of Mission designed furniture to be seen in the West.

Special attention is directed to the showing of Buffets. In these we show some genuinely distinctive designs. Nearly all are finished in the popular Early English finish
—a finish much more pleasing than the "dead" Mission finish. We promise you a wide variety in the matter of style and the price range shows big choice in the "appropriation." We have these from—

STORK'S CREW RETURNS.

Reach Montreal From Fort Moose on Way to England.

The majority of the crew of the ill-fated Hudson Bay Company's fur carrying ship Stork, arrived in Montreal a few days ago from Fort Moose on James' Bay.

The Stork was a four hundred ton,
wooden barque, under command of Captain Freckly. Last October, in James' Bay, she was sailing along one night at a fast clip, when she ran on some of the dangerous rocks of the neighborhood. The wind was not very strong, and the crew escaped in her lifeboats without losing a man. The Stork, however, was dashed to pieces
by the waves against the rocks.

The men took refuge at Fort Moose,
at the mouth of the Moose river, which runs into James' Bay. There they passed the winter, waiting until they could escape by canoe.

In December three walked out on snowshoes, over two hundred miles, to the nearest railway station; in March two more followed suit. All five experienced fine weather, and guided by Indians, escaped without difficulty.

About two weeks ago the Moose River became clear of ice, and with ten Indians, in the employ of the company,
the remaining twelve of the crew set out to do a two hundred mile canoe trip to Abitibi Crossing. The voyage took ten days, which was considered good going. The melting snows had made the current strong and fierce, and the men were not adept with the pad-

dies as were the Indians. The weather was fine and warm, the snow had all gone, the birds were returning by thousands, and the district seemed about to enjoy a short but very thorough summer. One man was lost on the trip but probably he will turn up again. The work was hard and he slipped off one night into the bush; after a vain search in the heavy undergrowth they left him and came on to catch the train,
which runs infrequently.

From Abitibi Crossing they had a nine mile sprint to Corcoran, and caught the T. & N. O. train. They all seemed in excellent spirits, and are enroute for home—England. Captain Freckly remained in the north and commands another ship. All the sailors expressed great admiration for the way in which they have been looked after, since the wreck, by the Hudson's Bay Company.

The man lost was a Channel Islander,
but strangely enough, none of the men knew his last name. The Indians of the district are mostly in the company's employ, and none of them are of the "wild" variety, so his mates consider that he is perfectly safe and only avoided a spell of hard work by giving them the slip.

MILLIONS IN HIDDEN WEALTH.

It is the belief of Lieutenant-Governor
Tweedie that the hidden resources of Canada have been merely scratched.
